

A COUNTRY LOCAL CALENDAR

and other writings

A detailed painting of a rural landscape. In the foreground, a woman in a blue dress and a child in a red dress are sitting on a path covered with fallen leaves. To the left, a white sheep is grazing, and another sheep is partially visible in the lower left corner. The background is filled with tall, thin trees with yellow and green foliage, suggesting an autumn setting. The sky is a pale, hazy blue.

Village England Trevor Wild, 2004-02-26 The romantic imagery of village England and the prominence that this commands in English cultural identity is well known Yet just how accurate is this notion of the rural idyll in which the organic nature of village life was gradually undermined and destroyed by social and economic factors Trevor Wild's text explores the evolution of village England from the earliest times to the present Drawing upon both contemporary accounts and scholarship he provides an engaging and revealing account of the major transformations affecting the English village Of particular interest is the book's coverage of the more recent past with the whittling away of the great estates the appearance of such institutions as the village hall and the development of alternative systems of power such as the councils

On the Trail of Flora Thompson John Owen Smith, 1997 The author has turned detective In this book he discovers the true identities behind the pseudonyms which Flora Thompson employed within her writing to hide the identity of the people and places she encountered beyond Candleford Green Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and George Bernard Shaw were two among many eminent people who were regular customers in her post office at Grayshott unaware that the shy young lady sending their telegrams would one day rank alongside themselves on literary shelves But the lesser known characters also lend their own interest to the story Who was Mr Foreshaw the retired big game hunter with whom she had tea on Sunday afternoons And Richard Brownlow the young man who met her often then told her he could never marry her And Bob Pikesley who taught her how to keep dry in a rainstorm And the bright eyed Alma Stedman who kept Flora from brooding And who was the unfortunate Mr Hertford her employer at Grayshott who eventually stabbed his wife to death shortly after Flora left the village These and other riddles are answered There is also a lost chapter of Flora's own work published here for the first time and the opportunity to follow literally in Flora's footsteps by taking the suggested trails through the Hampshire countryside she came to love so well
