Address of Bolivar at the Congress of Angostura (February 15, 1819) Simón Bolívar,1919 Readings in Hispanic American History Nels Andrew Nelson Cleven,1927 Annual Report of the American Historical Association American Historical Association,1922 The Political Thought of Bolivar G.E. Fitzgerald,2012-12-06 Life of Bolivar Simón Bolivar was born in Caracas Venezuela on July 24 1783 and died in Santa Marta Colombia on December 17 1830 His life was relatively brief but it was crowded with many activities many hardships many reverses and many accomplishments He is now revered as the Liberator of five Latin American countries Bolivia Colombia Ecuador Peru and Venezuela A descendant of a distinguished Creole family that originated in Biscay Spain the young Bolivar was orphaned at an early age and was cared for by his uncle Carlos Palacios As was customary tutors were employed to educate the young boy One of these was Andres Bello later to become a distinguished scholar Another was Simón Rodríguez who was particularly influenced by Rousseau and other eighteenth century philosophers Later the young Bolivar was sent to Spain to continue his education There he met Maria Teresa Rodríguez del Toro whom he married in 1802 Bolivar and his bride returned to Caracas where she died of yellow fever in 1803 Bolivar never remarried Returning to Europe Bolivar went to Spain and then to France There he found that Napoleon the former republican had proclaimed himself Emperor of the French After a trip to Italy Bolivar returned to Caracas in 1807 by way of several cities in the United States Speech of His Excellency General Bolívar, at the Installation of the Congress of Venezuela, in Angostura, on the 15th Day of February, 1819 ; [translated by James Hamilton]. Simón Bolívar,1974 Writings on American History ,1922 Sources for Forging the Modern World James Carter,Richard A. Warren,2018-09 In Forging the Modern World A History authors James Carter and Richard Warren offer an accessible explanation of key transformations in global economic political and ideological relationships since the sixteenth century The book is distinct from most world history texts in three important ways First it explores the ways in which historians use and produce information Each chapter delves deeply into one or two specific issues of historical inquiry related to the chapter theme showing how new primary sources methodologies or intellectual trends have changed how we engage with the past Second it clearly explains the political economic and ideological concepts that students need to understand in order to compare events and trends across time and space Finally the chapters are organized around global historical themes which are explored through an array of conceptual and comparative lenses While the book chapters proceed chronologically each chapter is written with some chronological overlap linking it to preceding and subsequent chapters This strategy emphasizes the interconnectedness between the events and themes of one chapter and those of surrounding chapters A companion sourcebook follows the main book's organization and includes approximately 67 primary sources with two questions following each source
