Nipper,2003 Shark Mark Carwardine,2004 Sharks in one form or another have inhabited our seas and oceans for more than 400 million years They were here long before the dinosaurs and they witnessed the rise of our own species Awe inspiring beautiful mysterious frightening sharks have been described in many ways and provoke a mixture of feelings But they never do less than excite and impress story of these wonderful creatures from their early beginnings to their struggle for survival today He describes their origins and ancestors introduces the diversity of sharks marvels at their perfectly designed bodies explains how they reproduce investigates their reputation as the ultimate killing machines and finds out how these little known animals are being studied He even reveals how and where to jump into the sea for a real life close encounter with a wild shark Of course the fearsome reputation of sharks travels before them But how much truth is there in the fishermen s tales that have circulated for centuries Mark puts our irrational fears into perspective by presenting the facts and exploding the fallacies Far from being killing machines with a taste for human flesh most sharks are quite nervous of people There would be many more attacks if they really were out to get us We pose a far greater threat to sharks than they do to us According to the most widely accepted scientific estimate over 100 million sharks are killed by people every year How Overfishing Handicaps Resilience of Marine Resources Under Climate Change Maria Lourdes D. Palomares,Rashid Sumaila,Charlotte De Fontaubert,2024-11-26 Life Below Water LBW is in decline partly due to overfishing and partly because climate change is disrupting the biophysics of the ocean Fish is a central part of LBW where predator prey relationships keep the ocean alive An ocean full of life is an important source of food and livelihoods for humans worldwide LBW is now facing two ominous threats overfishing and climate change In this Research Topic we address how the reduction of overfishing can increase the ability of LBW to withstand the impacts of climate change Thus we encourage the submission of contributions that relate the fishing down marine food webs phenomenon i e the truncation of marine food webs by the extraction of high trophic level species the destruction of marine habitats e g through harmful fishing gears and the continued unsustainable extraction of these resources with climate related impacts on marine environments species populations and ecosystems We particularly encourage papers that discuss mitigation of climate change and the positive effect that this will have to make LBW resilient We would like to encourage an active discussion of future actions and policies to support this mitigation and provide the elements that might help in building a multidimensional and interactive framework to build LBW resilience
