Arab-Jewish Relations In Israel:

Arab-Jewish Relations in Israel Sammy Smooha, 2010 Israel is and remains a deeply divided society of some 5.6 million Jews and some 1.2 million Palestinian Arab citizens. This division is reflected in institutions, culture, national identity, socioeconomic status, and stances on fundamental issues. Arab-Jewish relations within Israel have worsened steadily since the Rabin assassination in 1995. Two conflicting theses explain the trends of changed relations between the Arab minority and Jewish majority: Mutual alienation asserts Arabs and Jews are not only deeply divided but also on a violent collision course; Mutual rapprochement suggests that Arabs and Jews are in the process of adjusting to one another. Analysis of survey data taken from 1976 through 2009 indicates that both Arabs and Jews are committed to coexistence and democracy. Arab attitudes toward the Jews and the Jewish state have become more critical and militant since 1996. Israel could accommodate the Arab minority without losing its character as a Jewish and democratic state. The Arabs could fulfill most of their demands without transforming Israel into a full binational state. A better balance compatible with the visions of both sides could be struck between the Jewish and democratic character of the state by policies of nondiscrimination, inclusion, and integration of the Arab minority. Reform could be undertaken step by step along with settling the Palestinian question and building trust between Arabs and Jews within Israel. No progress was made in this direction between 1996 and 2010, and the decline threatens the relative tranquility in Arab-Jewish relations. If the Jewish state does not enhance equality and integration of the Arabs and does not move forward on peace with the Palestinians, Arab attitudes will continue to harden and both sides will suffer. Continued relative quiet in Arab-Jewish relations is an important condition for settling the Palestinian question. The answer to improving relations while keeping Israel Jewish and democratic and establishing a separate Palestinian state is to strengthen Israel's democracy and to find a better and fairer balance between its Jewish character and its democratic character. Arabs And Jews In Israel/two Volume Set Sammy Smooha, 2019-08-28 In this treatment of the problem of Arab-Jewish coexistence in Israel which furnishes data on the news of Israel's divided population, Dr. Smooha challenges the gloomy perspective that impediments to peaceful relations between Israel's Jewish majority and Arab minority will inevitably lead to ever more violent confrontation. He asserts instead that Planning a Mixed Region in Israel Oren Yiftachel, 1992 The book shows that policies intensified competition over land control, slightly widening socio-economic gaps and maintaining pre-existing power disparities between Arabs and Jews. Subsequently, most indicators of political instability also intensified. The continuation of Israel's policies in the region is therefore likely to undermine the country's long-term political stability. Dialogue, Conflict Resolution, and Change Mohammed Abu-Nimer, 2012-02-01 This is the first study to introduce the subject of Arab-Jewish relations and encounters in Israel from both conflict resolution and educational perspectives. Through a critical examination of Arab and Jewish encounter programs in Israel, the book reviews conflict resolution and intergroup theories and processes which are utilized in dealing with ethnic conflicts and offers a detailed presentation of intervention.

models applied by various encounter programs to promote dialogue education for peace and democracy between Arabs and Jews in Israel The author investigates how encounter designs and processes can become part of a control system used by the dominant governmental majority's institutes to maintain the status quo and reinforce political taboos Also discussed are the different conflict perceptions held by Arabs and Jews the relationship between those perceptions and both sides' expectations of the encounters Abu Nimer explores the impact of the political context Intifada Gulf War and peace process on the intervention design and process of those encounter groups and contains a list of recommendations and guidelines to consider when designing and conducting encounters between ethnic groups He reveals and explains why the Arab and Jewish encounter participants and leaders have different criteria of their encounter's success and failure The study is also applicable to dialogue and coexistence programs and conflict resolution initiatives in other ethnically divided societies such as South Africa Northern Ireland Bosnia and Sri Lanka where the minority and majority have struggled to find peaceful ways to coexist

Arab-Jewish Coexistence Programs Rachel Hertz-Lazarowitz, Tamar Zelniker, Stephan White, Walter Stephan, Irene Hanson Frieze, 2004-12-27 Israeli Jewish and Arab intergroup relations experts within Israel have developed innovative coexistence programs These programs consist of educational efforts designed to improve relations between Israeli Jews and Israeli Arabs This issue presents theory methods and data from these coexistence programs Studies the diverse Israeli coexistence programs which attempt to improve relations between Israeli Jews and Arabs Addresses conceptual and theoretical issues involved in establishing conditions for positive coexistence in Israel Examines specific coexistence programs presenting the background goals techniques and assessments of each program Critically evaluates coexistence programs

Arabs And Jews In Israel Sammy Smooha, 2019-04-02 On December 9 1987 the Palestinians on the West Bank and Gaza Strip launched the most serious challenge in this century to non Arab rule in the area West of the Jordan river A genuine grassroots movement against protracted occupation and for self determination the Intifadeh has already inflicted many losses and scored many gains By the first anniversary of the uprising the toll for the revolting Palestinians was at least 280 dead 4 000 wounded 5 500 detainees and some deportations and house demolitions The substantial suffering and privations also entailed numerous beatings curfews arrests searches cuts in basic services closings of schools and losses of income The Israelis have had 10 killed 1 150 wounded a minimum of a 1 5% drop in the Gross National Product the stress of a people's army fighting civilians of an occupied nation increased international isolation and censure and the straining of relations with the Diaspora trends of change in these attitudes over the years The Index was inaugurated in 2003 under the aegis of the University of Haifa and became a joint project of IDI and the University of Haifa in 2012 This collaboration seeks to contribute to the study of relations between Arab and Jewish citizens of Israel to Arab Jewish coexistence and to a resilient democracy in Israel The 2012 Index is based on a national representative sample of 700 Arab citizens aged 18 and over including Druze and Bedouin who were interviewed face to face in Arabic and a national representative sample of 700 Jews aged 18 and over including immigrants ultra Orthodox settlers and members of moshavim and kibbutzim who were interviewed on the telephone in Hebrew or Russian The margin of error is 3.7%

Shahbari, 2021-01-28 The relations between the Israeli state and its Arab citizens have been distorted by the perception that national security concerns require the full rights of citizenship to be restricted for members of the Arab community However the national security of the state can also be affected by a poor reputation in the international community which plays a vital role in sustaining the existence of the state This created a space for Arab intelligentsia to use internationalisation as a means to promote their cause This study is designed to explore and analyse the internationalisation process and its impact regarding the Arab community in Israel It is a beneficial source to academics experts policymakers journalists and other
