

RH96: Ethical Analysis and Objections Developing Common Ground for Dialogue<sup>1</sup>

INTRODUCTION

The proposed House Bill No. 96<sup>2</sup>, known as, "The Reproductive Health and Population and Development Act of 2010,"<sup>3</sup> a derivative of similar and previously proposed population control bills that Congress has spent so much time, energy, and resources on for the past ten years, continues to be one of the most contentious, often emotionally-charged and divisive moral issues in Philippine politics. The issue for dialogue and debate is whether the Philippine government ought to provide, as a national policy, legal infrastructure for the promotion, funding, and endorsement of artificial birth control products and methods.

The proposed Act has been re-introduced arguably in order "to protect and promote the right of Filipinos to overall health and well-being and sustainable development."<sup>4</sup> It specifically declares that "(t)he State recognizes and guarantees the exercise of the universal human right to reproductive health by all persons.

<sup>1</sup> This article has been written as a tribute to the Filipino people on the occasion of the 35th anniversary of the 1986 Philippine People Power Revolution at EDSA. Publication forthcoming: Manzan Management Review, Vol. 26, No. 3 (March 2011), Nagoya, Japan.

<sup>2</sup> This proposed House Bill No. 96, known as "The Reproductive Health and Population Act of 2010," is authored by the Honorable Edcel C. Lagman, and under the subject heading "FAMILY PLANNING-BIRTH CONTROL," Filed in the Philippine Congress (15th) on July 1, 2010, and read on July 27, 2010, House of Representatives Website: http://www.congress.gov.ph/legis/search/just\_show.php?save=0&journal=&switch=0&bill\_no=HB00096&congress=15 (Accessed October 9, 2010). Hereafter, to be cited as RH96.

<sup>3</sup> There are, at present, also five similar proposals before the 15th Congress, such as House Bill 101 513 1160 & 3387, which are currently vigorously lobbied, and are pending before the House of Representatives' "Population and Family Relations Committee," and 3378 at the Senate. Each proposed bill has a different author although most sections contain exact phrases and wordings without any attribution to the original author. Derivative proposals such as RH Bill 8111, "The Integrated Population and Development Act of 1999," that was first filed in the 11th Congress and even referred to as a "comprehensive version" of the proposed RH Bill (See RH96 Explanatory Notes), as well as succeeding proposed versions of the bill: House Bill 4110; Senate Bill 1280; House Bill 16; Senate Bill 3122; and House Bill 5043, all failed to gain majority support in Congress. What makes RH96 significantly different from the other versions, and why bother?
