Environment Peter Brimblecombe,2003-04-08 Air pollution damages materials but it has changed dramatically in the past century with a reduction in the concentration of corrosive primary pollutants in urban atmospheres At the same time architectural styles and types of materials have changed as we have moved to more organically rich photochemically active atmospheres Contemporary air pollutants have the potential to degrade organic coatings and polymers which are of great importance to modern structures while increasing amounts of fine diesel soot spoil the simple lines and smooth areas characteristic of many modern buildings This book examines a range of materials discussing the ways in which they are likely to be damaged by air pollutants It should be of interest to scientists and policymakers dealing with the effects of urban air
