Approaching Fatherhood:

Approaching Fatherhood Paul May, 2005 This is the first book produced in the UK to combine adoptive fathers experiences with a guide to the adoption process from the man's point of view In a time when our understanding of fathers and their roles is coming under scrutiny Fathers have been largely silent and unstudied figures in the adoption world Fathers play a crucial role in the success of adoptive placements helping their children to live the secure happy lives they deserve

Fatherhood and Its Representations in Middle English Texts Rachel E. Moss, 2013 The figure and role of the late medieval father is reappraised through a close reading of a range of documents from the period including both letters and romances Late medieval English society placed great weight on the practices of primogeniture patrilineal descent and patriarchal government and the significance of the father had cultural resonance beyond the rule of law Yet despite aburgeoning interest in both the family and gender the father has to date received little attention from medievalists This book takes an interdisciplinary approach to the analysis of the fictions of fatherhood the ideological constructs that underpinned late medieval conceptions of fathers and patriarchy Its focus on gentry and mercantile readers and writers also offers new insights into the literary culture of late medieval England by considering how texts were produced and received within gentry and bourgeois communities and demonstrates the ability of texts to not only reflect but also shape hegemonic norms and cultural anxieties Through close examination of late medieval letters and romances it shows how the father was the dominant figure not only of medieval domestic life but also of the medieval imagination Dr RACHEL E MOSS is a Lecturer in History at the University of Northampton

Remaking English Society Alexandra Shepard, Steve Hindle, John Walter, 2015 Written by leading authorities the volume can be considered a standard work on seventeenth century English social history A tribute to the work of Keith Wrightson Remaking English Society re-examines the relationship between enduring structures and social change in early modern England Collectively the essays in the volume reconstruct the fissures and connections that developed both within and between social groups during the sixteenth seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Focusing on the experience of rapid economic and demographic growth and on related processes of cultural diversification the contributors address fundamental questions about the character of English society during a period of decisive change Prefaced by a substantial introduction which traces the evolution of early modern social history over the last fifty years these essays each of them written by a leading authority not only offer state of the art assessments of the historiography but also represent the latest research on a variety of topics that have been at the heart of the development of the new social history and its cultural turn gender relations and sexuality governance and litigation class and deference labouring relations neighbourliness and reciprocity and social status and consumption STEVE HINDLE is W M Keck Foundation Director of Research at the Huntington Library San Marino California ALEXANDRA SHEPARD is Reader in History University of Glasgow JOHN WALTER is Professor of History University of Essex Contributors Helen Berry Adam Fox H R French Malcolm Gaskill Paul Griffiths Steve Hindle Craig Muldrew Lindsay O Neill Alexandra Shepard Tim Stretton Naomi Tadmor John Walter Phil Withington Andy Wood

Changing Landscapes for Childhood and Youth in Europe Vassiliki Deliyianni, 2014-06-02 Contemporary social transformations characterised by multi-dimensional globalisation and technological change have lent new impetus to the emergence of internationally oriented and interdisciplinary childhood and youth studies Analysis of sharpened polarisations of chances and risks within and between generations in specific life circumstances meets up with the re-conceptualisation of childhood and youth as social constructions within the life course As such insulated national discourses are no longer an adequate framework to address such issues economic and cultural globalisation processes exert dual and reciprocal influences restructuring societies and identities from within and without This collection offers a three-fold thematic focus on the social construction of the life course privileging gendered and family transitions and transformations on the contours of not belonging in particular bringing migration and poverty into the spotlight and on the potential of virtual worlds for creating and enabling new positive and negative forms of individual social and political action on the part of young people This collection thus offers a particular snapshot of the current landscape of childhood and youth studies and it provides a set of exemplars from diverse national contexts Each chapter can stand for itself but the contributions are ordered thematically not according to the corner of the world from which they derive As the introductory chapter explores the intention is via a loose vectoring of theme and context to encourage multiple opportunities for reflection on relations between the specificities and commonalities of children's and young people's lives today This volume joins the growing library of scholarly resources for international and interdisciplinary childhood and youth studies it brings together well established and young scholars writing from an unusual range of national and cultural contexts The collection will be of interest not simply for specialist researchers and those in related fields but equally as a teaching and learning resource for higher education professionals and students in social sciences and education including courses that link theory and research with policy and practice
