Archaeological Theory Iain M. Mackenzie,1994
Methodik Forschungsgeschichte Theory and Perspective Chun Chen,2025-05-05 This book draws attention to the importance of theoretical problems in archaeological research in China At present Chinese archaeology has adopted the traditional culture historical paradigm with research themes has mainly focused on chronology and cultural relationships The lack of training at theoretical thinking and scientific methods such as positivist methods and logical reasoning it has become difficult to reconstruct the processes of human behavior and social change with rigorous steps of looking at people behind the artifacts As a response to this situation this book discusses various problems that bother Chinese archaeologists in terms of the advances of archaeological theories and methods This book emphasizes the importance for theoretical guidance and problem awareness in archaeological research while illustrates this scientific philosophy with diversified case studies The purpose of this volume is trying to summarize the history and practice of Chinese archaeology in the global context It will greatly broaden the perspective of researchers all over the world with an insight into this particular practice and can also serve as a comprehensive reference work in the field of Chinese archaeology

Theory in Africa, Africa in Theory Stephanie Wynne-Jones,Jeffrey Fleisher,2015-06-19 Theory in Africa Africa in Theory explores the place of Africa in archaeological theory and the place of theory in African archaeology The centrality of Africa to global archaeological thinking is highlighted with a particular focus on materiality and agency in contemporary interpretation As a means to explore the nature of theory itself the volume also addresses differences between how African models are used in western theoretical discourse and the use of that theory within Africa Providing a key contribution to theoretical discourse through a focus on the context of theory building this volume explores how African modes of thought have shaped our approaches to a meaningful past outside of Africa A timely intervention into archaeological thought Theory in Africa Africa in Theory deconstructs the conventional ways we approach the past positioning the continent within a global theoretical discourse and blending Western and African scholarship This volume will be a valuable resource for those interested in the archaeology of Africa as well as providing fresh perspectives to those interested in archaeological theory more generally

Mesolithic Studies in the North Sea Basin and Beyond Clive Waddington,Kristian Pedersen,2007 The North Sea has acted as both physical barrier separating regions from each other and as the principal means of communication between the same This duality can also be seen in its potential to be both yielding and destructive providing food and resources but also being capable of causing catastrophe These paradoxical qualities are unlikely to have been lost on our hunter gatherer ancestors and they remain relevant to the way that the sea is perceived today The sixteen papers in this edited volume look at the impact the North Sea had on Northern Europe in the Mesolithic period Journal of Iberian Archaeology, 2006 The Development of 'cultural Regions' in the Neolithic of the Near East Francesca Balossi Restelli, 2006 This work defines Neolithic Near East Dark Faced Burnished Ware DFBW on the basis of new data taking into account areas of production analyses of architectural economic and environmental information and the verification of the existence of a specific DFBW region and its characteristics The distribution of DFBW to external areas is also investigated with the goal of explaining relations between these regions during this Neolithic phase This research was prompted by the renewed excavations at Yumuktepe Mersin one of the central sites of the so called Syro Cilician culture and by the possibility of analyzing two of the main contexts of DFBW Judaidah in the Amuq and Ain el Kerkh in the Rouj Basin The study is presented in three main phases the technical and typological definition of the DFBW its distribution and characteristics within the horizon of DFBW producers and its external distribution A chapter is devoted to a chronological summary of the analyzed developments as reconstructed from comparisons in the ceramic assemblages from all the sites and in correlation with available radiocarbon dates Multi-temporality and Material Culture David A. Barrowclough, 2007 The study investigates why the scientific construction of knowledge about the prehistoric inhabitants of Lancastria has focused so much on individual artefacts and single sites removed from their landscape context The Neolithic of the Irish Sea Vicki Cummings, Chris Fowler, 2004 This collection of 24 papers aims to reconsider the nature and significance of the Irish Sea as an area of cultural interaction during the Neolithic period The traditional character of work across this region has emphasised the existence of prehistoric contact with sea routes criss crossing between Ireland the Isle of Man Anglesey and the British mainland A parallel course of investigation however has demonstrated that the British and Irish Neolithics were in many ways different with distinct indigenous patterns of activity and social practices The recent emphasis on regional studies has further produced evidence for parallel yet different processes of cultural change taking place throughout the British Isles as a whole This volume brings together some of these regional perspectives and compares them across the Irish Sea area The authors consider new ways to explain regional patterning in the use of material objects and relate them to past practices and social strategies Were there practices that were shared across the Irish Sea area linking different styles of monuments and material culture or were the media intrinsic to the message The volume is based on papers presented at a conference held at the University of Manchester in 2002 Milestones in Archaeology Tim Murray, 2007-04-13 Milestones in Archaeology A Chronological Encyclopedia uses three essays on different historical periods to bring together over 500 years of archaeology's greatest hits some familiar some deserving wider recognition for their impact on our understanding of history As the work moves forward century by century readers will experience the evolution of a science from the simplest tools to the collecting of antiquarian dabblers to today's globalized enterprises combining old-fashioned dirty hands work with satellites, computers, x-rays, and other modern technologies.
