Children's Drawings Iconic Coding Of The Environment:

Children's Drawings Martin Krampen, 2013-06-29 This book is dedicated to all those who love children and their wonderful often surprising drawings This means it addresses all those interested in their developing capacity to produce iconic signs parents teachers child psychologists artists architects since building drawings are treated here and semioticians at large to name but a few potential readers Because of the broad audience I tried to keep scientific jargon to a minimum Whenever this was unavoidable I tried to explain the terms in such a way that even beginners in psychology could understand my arguments I received the first impulse to think about a book like this from the International Year of the Child declared by the UN in 1979 In a first phase of the project I obtained drawings of the six different building types treated in this book from more than 100 children aged 3-12 years in Turkey during a stay there as part of the faculty of Architecture of the Karadeniz Technical University in Trabzon under the auspices of the UN ESCO UNDP program TUR 75 012 My special thanks go to Dr Erdem Aksoy then president of the university and Dr Ozgontil Aksoy then dean of the faculty of Architecture and Civil Engineering for their encouragement to carry out the project I would also like to thank Dr Kutzal Oztirk Sevinc Ertirk Ali Ozbilen Hasan Saltik together with all the teachers in nursery and elementary schools in and around Trabzon who helped to collect the drawings

Environmental Awareness in Preschool Children's Drawings

Mohamed Mliless, Mohammed Larouz, Diego Luis Forte, Huda Fadhil Halawachy, Handoko Handoko, Clara D.S. Vande-Guma, 2024-05-28 This edited volume investigates multiple perspectives of environmental meaning making among children by evaluating preschool children's drawings on the environment It critically traces the formation of early attitudes towards the environment before children's exposure to formal environmental education Similarities and differences are explored among preschool children's drawings across diverse cultural and geographic backgrounds Over five sections covering Morocco Indonesia Nigeria Iraq and Argentina each one examines the factors affecting children's environmental drawings such as age gender and geography Using different theoretical frameworks the chapters are written by researchers of environmental discourse and ecolinguistics with a background knowledge in environmental studies from a social science perspective This book is of interest to researchers interested in ecolinguistics and socio-semiotics fields of study This seminal book also paves the way for further research on preschool environmental education

Children's Environments, 1992 Drawing for Science Education

Phyllis Katz, 2017-03-23 This book argues for the essential use of drawing as a tool for science teaching and learning The authors are working in schools universities and continual science learning CSL settings around the world They have written of their experiences using a variety of prompts to encourage people to take pen to paper and draw their thinking sometimes direct observation and in other instances their memories The result is a collection of research and essays that offer theory techniques outcomes and models for the reader Young children have provided evidence of the perceptions that they have accumulated from families and the media before they reach classrooms Secondary students describe their ideas of chemistry and physics Teacher educators use drawings to consider the progress of their undergraduates understanding of science teaching and even their moral ethical responses to teaching about climate change Museum visitors have drawn their understanding of the physics of how exhibit sounds are transmitted A physician explains how the history of drawing has been a critical tool to medical education and doctor patient communications Each chapter contains samples insights and where applicable analysis techniques The chapters in this book should be helpful to researchers and teachers alike across the teaching and learning continuum The sections are divided by the kinds of activities for which drawing has historically been used in science education An instance of observation Audubon Linnaeus A process how plants grow over time what happens when chemicals combine Conceptions of what science is and who does it Images of identity development in science teaching and learning

Children's Images of Identity Jill Brown, Nicola F. Johnson, 2015-06-25 The understandings which children have of Indigenous identity provide means by which to explore the ways in which Indigenous identity is both projected and constructed in society These understandings play a powerful part in the ways in which Indigenous peoples are positioned in the mainstream society with which they are connected The research presented in this edited collection uses children's drawings to illuminate and explore the images children both mainstream and Indigenous have of Indigenous peoples The data generated by this process allows exploration of the ways in which Indigenous identity is understood globally through a series of locally focussed studies connected by theme and approach The data serves to illuminate both the space made available by mainstream groups and aspects of modernity accommodated within the Indigenous sense of self Our aim within this project has been to analyse and discuss the ways in which children construct identity both their own and that of others Children were asked to share their thoughts through drawings which were then used as the basis for conversation with the researchers In this way the interaction between mainstream modernity and traditional Indigenous identity is made available for discussion and the connection between children's lived experiences of identity and the wider global discussion is both immediately enacted and located within broader international understandings of Indigenous cultures and their place in the world

Perceptual and Cognitive Development Rochel Gelman, Terry Kit-Fong Au, 1996-06-17 Perceptual and Cognitive Development illustrates how the developmental approach yields fundamental contributions to our understanding of perception and cognition as a whole The book discusses how to relate developmental comparative and neurological considerations to early learning and development and it presents fundamental problems in cognition and language such as the acquisition of a coherent organized and shared understanding of concepts and language Discussions of learning memory attention and problem solving are embedded within specific accounts of the neurological status of developing minds and the nature of knowledge Research advances and theoretical reorientations are updated in the Second Edition the revision focuses more attention on the cognitive and biological sciences and neuroscience Illustrates how the developmental approach can yield fundamental contributions to our understanding of perception and cognition as a whole Discussions of learning memory and attention permeate individual chapters Images of Aging Mike Featherstone, Andrew Wernick, 2003-09-02 We all have a finite life span We are born we get old and we die Given the universality of the ageing process it is remarkable that there is almost a complete absence of study of culture and self image of the middle aged and old Images of Ageing Cultural Representations of Later Life changes this The contributors discuss images of ageing which have come to circulate in the advanced industrial societies today They address themes such as body and self image in everyday interaction experience and identity on old age advertising and consumer culture images of the elderly images of ageing used by Government agencies in health education campaigns the diversity of historical representations of the elderly gender images of ageing images of senility and second childhood images of health illness and death Psychology Serving Humanity: Proceedings of the 30th International Congress of Psychology Saths Cooper, Kopano Ratele, 2014-06-27 This is the first of two volumes collecting the key proceedings of the 30th International Congress of Psychology the first to be held in Africa in the 123 years of its history The theme of the conference was Psychology Serving Humanity a recognition of psychology s unfulfilled mission in the majority world and a reflection of what that world requires from psychology Mainstream Psychology finds its largest number of exponents and leading personalities in the high income countries of the global West The Other Psychologies referred to by different names are scattered across the rest of the world Some of the names of these other forms of Psychology include indigenous Psychology The main driver of indigenous and other forms of non mainstream Psychology is the endeavour to embed the discipline in the dynamics of local societies Psychology has entered an interesting era however While the dominant philosophy underpinning the discipline remains Western Psychology in the majority world in 2000s may have reached a tipping point It took over a hundred years but the 2004 and 2012 International Congresses of Psychology held in China and South Africa heralded a newfound possibility for the discipline There is an opening of the field to potentially new thought and forms of the practice of Psychology These proceedings are published in the hope that all psychologists especially those located in well resourced institutions in the West confront the divided reality that characterizes Psychology so as to creatively consider the opportunity opened up by the growing field at the peripheries Care was taken when assembling both conference and proceedings to ensure that the entire international psychological community was represented Volume One contains contributions to Majority World Psychology Volume Two contains contributions to Western Psychology Pictures and Iconic Signs in Children's Drawings Elizabeth Climenko Clarke, 1977 The Role of Outdoor Programs in the Development of Children's Environmental Knowledge Ivanna M. Tomashchuk, 2003 Emerging Biology in the Early Years Sue Dale Tunnicliffe, 2020-02-21 This inspiring text celebrates young children as emergent biologists and explains how their natural inquisitiveness and curiosity can be harnessed to increase early understanding of scientific concepts and so lay the foundations for future learning about the living world Full of practical tips suggested discussion points and hands on activities Emerging Biology in the Early Years is a uniquely child focussed resource Chapters provide key information on the physical environment including weather phenomena and soils plants animals and human development and prioritise the child s perspective to offer activities which are in line with their natural development thereby provoking discussion problem solving and child led investigations From planting seeds to classifying rocks flowers and animals to understanding growth processes and recognising anatomical features this book takes a holistic approach to science which moves beyond the confines of the curriculum and the classroom and shows how biology can be taught in a fun engaging and inexpensive way both at home and in the early years setting Providing a rich collection of ideas activities and downloadable sheets this will be an invaluable resource for early years practitioners and parents looking to develop young children s scientific skills and understanding

Visual Arts Research,2000

Children in the Prehistoric Puebloan Southwest Kathryn Ann Kamp,Society for American Archaeology. Annual Meeting,2002 Is there evidence of children in the archaeological record Some would answer no that subadults can only be distinguished when there is osteological confirmation Others might suggest that the reason children don t exist in prehistory is because no one has looked for them much as no one had looked for women in the same context until recently Focusing on the Southwest contributors to this volume attempt to find some of those children or at least show how they might be found They address two issues what was the cultural construction of childhood What were childrens lives like Determining how cultures with written records have constructed childhood in the past is hard enough but the difficulty is magnified in the case of ancient Puebloan societies The contributors here offer approaches from careful analysis of artifacts and skeletal remains to ethnographic evidence in rock art Topics include ceramics and evidence of child manufacture and painting cradleboards evidence of child labor and osteological evidence of health conditions
