Thinking Psychologically About Children Who Are Looked After and Adopted Kim S. Golding, Helen R. Dent, Ruth Nissim, Liz Stott, 2006-02-22 Assessment intervention and living with children who are looked after or adopted all require an understanding of psychology and its application This innovative collection makes thinking psychologically about looked after and adopted children accessible and in doing so provides an insight into the world of these children Informed by research practice and psychological theory this volume provides an overview of the area and considers the context for helping children change and develop It goes on to describe in detail the techniques and approaches used by clinicians and explains how interventions can be developed and adapted for children and young people living in residential foster and adoptive care Careful consideration is also given to carers and families living with these children With its multi disciplinary approach Thinking Psychologically About Children Who Are Looked After and Adopted will appeal to all professionals involved in the care and education of placed children It will also be of interest to policy makers and lecturers and students of social work

Children and Society Malcolm Hill,2014-09-25 Provides a comprehensive overview of the issues research and debates relating to children and the experience of childhood in late twentieth century Britain This volume will address key issues such as juvenile crime poverty child protection and children s rights and their implications for the development of policy and services for children Presents first hand accounts from children and parents

The Development of the High Ability Child Erin M. Miller,Michael S. Matthews,Dante D. Psychological Approaches to Problems of Children and Adolescents ,1982

The School Psychologist in Nontraditional Settings Rik Carl D'Amato,Raymond S. Dean,2017-09-14 Originally published in 1989 school psychology according to the contributors of this unique volume is an approach to problem solving not simply a setting specific profession Following Lightner Witmer s original notion the editors lay a foundation for the field of school psychology in nontraditional settings Such nontraditional practice stems from data showing that school psychologists display skills and abilities that can be applied successfully to a variety of client needs in numerous settings This special book directly affects both the practicing school psychologist and those in training as well as professionals and students in clinical child psychology counseling and educational psychology

Psychodynamic Perspectives on Working with Children,

Families, and Schools Michael O'Loughlin,2013 With the push toward accountability and test performance in schools there has been a decline in emphasis on creativity imagination and feelings in schools Psychodynamic Perspectives on Working with Children Families and Schools is designed for students and professionals who are interested in restoring such values to their work with children There is an absence of psychoanalytic ways of thinking in conventional professional discourses of schooling With a few notable exceptions the discourses of child development classroom management early childhood education special education school psychology and school counseling have constructed notions of children and schooling that are often behaviorist instrumental and symptom focused Curriculum too often focuses on acquisition of knowledge and behaviors discipline is conceptualized as compliance and symptoms such as anger school resistance etc are pathologized and reacted to out of context children s special needs are often conceptualized instrumentally and children with complex psychological symptoms are delimited depersonalized or simply removed Professionals who work with children psychodynamically draw on diverse frameworks including the work of Anna Freud the long tradition of the Tavistock Clinic in London e g Anne Alvarez Susan Reid Margaret Rustin Frances Tustin etc the writings of Klein Winnicott and their colleagues French analysts e g Piera Aulagnier Didier Anzieu Laurent Danon Boileau Fran oise Dolto Maud Mannoni and Catherine Mathelin and Italian infant child analyst Alessandro Piontelli This work is valuable but often inaccessible to school professionals because the writing is somewhat specialized and because there is no tradition of teaching such work in professional preparation in those fields This collection is theoretically grounded in that the authors share a commitment to valuing children s emotions and understand the usefulness of psychoanalytic approaches for enhancing children s lives It is laden with examples to invite into this discussion those students and professionals who value these ideas but for whom this book may be their first introduction to progressive educational ideals and psychodynamic ways of working with children

Psychodynamic Perspectives on Working with Children Families and Schools provides an introductory volume to open the door to the possibility of introducing psychodynamic frameworks to education and human service professors and school professionals and professionals working with children
