Bibliographic Guide to Latin American Studies Benson Latin American Collection,1981      Responding to International Crime Geoff Gilbert,2006 Following the wars in the former Yugoslavia and Rwanda and the events of 11 September 2001 awareness of international crimes has come to the forefront of public consciousness The very public responses seen in the establishment by the Security Council of the ad hoc tribunals and the international community coming together to create the International Criminal Court have done much to promote the idea that there should be no impunity for international criminals Nevertheless while those are incredibly significant steps in the attempt to combat international crime there is no way due to their jurisdictional competence that such bodies could ever hope to address all the various crimes that are committed that are not confined to a single domestic jurisdiction either by reason of their nature or trans border factors As such the response of the international community to international crime depends as much on extraterritorial criminal jurisdiction mutual legal assistance agreements extradition and other means of lawful rendition Furthermore given the fundamental rule that a person is innocent until proven guilty and that everyone within the jurisdiction of a State is owed certain basic minimum human rights guarantees responses to international crime cannot be without limitation Respect for the alleged transnational fugitive offender is as important a factor in responding to international crime as preventing impunity for genocide crimes against humanity war crimes and gross human rights violations      Third World/Iowa: Latin America University of Iowa. Metagraffiti Chandra Morrison Ariyo,2024-12-13 Focusing on graffiti scenes from S o Paulo and Santiago in Chile this innovative visual ethnography examines diverse forms of self reference and metareference that appear in Latin American graffiti art Chandra Morrison Ariyo works across multiple scales of contemporary graffiti production from tags to massive murals to show how painting the city enables individuals to reimagine their own position within the material and social structures around them Metagraffiti reveals how practitioners such as Tinho OSGEMEOS Grin and Bisy use metagraffiti features to influence public perceptions about this art form and its effect on the urban environment Ultimately Metagraffiti proposes a novel conceptual framework that highlights graffiti's ability to forge alternative forms of movement sociality and value within Latin American cityscapes These urban images invite us to imagine what the city could be when seen as a site for action and imagination

Literature and Society in the Chilean Post-Transition Denisse Lazo, 2026-01-22 This book offers a comprehensive exploration of Diamela Eltit's recent novels highlighting how her experimental narratives engage with Chile's evolving social and political landscape Moving beyond postcolonial and postmodernist readings the book proposes a new methodological framework that situates Eltit as a central figure in Chilean post transition to democracy literature Through careful analysis the study demonstrates how her literary techniques challenge entrenched power structures giving voice to those marginalized by systemic inequalities Richly contextualized the book connects literary innovation with the broader sociopolitical currents shaping contemporary Chile from the lingering effects of dictatorship era neoliberal policies to the subtle reawakening of civic engagement Balancing rigorous literary scholarship with clear engaging explanations Literature and Society in the Chilean Post Transition will be relevant to students academics and anyone intrigued by the intersection of literature politics and social change This work illuminates Eltit's continuing influence as a writer who bridges aesthetic experimentation with profound social critique

Geographies of Gendered Punishment Anastasia Chamberlen, Mahuya Bandyopadhyay, 2024-07-25 This edited book explores new and enduring themes in the gendered experience of incarceration across the world Capturing global debates and research on women's treatment their coping and resistances in penal settings the collection promotes a feminist agenda that is attuned to the inherently patriarchal and intersectionally oppressive structures of contemporary punishment It seeks to map policies and campaigns around women's criminalisation across the world and offers one of the most comprehensive overviews of women's imprisonment experiences across the Global North and Global South Each chapter focusses on a different geographic context and theme and aims to provide the intellectual groundwork for a critical world wide movement advocating for women's decarceration As a whole the collection offers a robust empirical understanding of women's punishment in non western Global South contexts and also revisits ongoing debates in feminist accounts of punishment in the Global North In doing so the collection examines hierarchical geopolitical relations between privileged and underprivileged nations reflecting global inequalities and structural violence rooted in legacies of imperialism and colonialism Overall the edited collection shows how centering women's peripheralized experiences can radically reshape our understanding of punishment and offers a new intellectual methodological and political means through which to think about gendered identity and imprisonment in the 21st Century     Rural Crime, Social Protest and Resistance in Chile and Peru, 1850-1890
