China Treasures Splendors:

China, 1986 Splendors of Imperial China Guo li gu gong bo wu yuan, Maxwell K. Hearn, 1996 The collection of the National Palace Museum is made up largely of the personal holdings of the Ch ien lung emperor reigned 1736-95. Representing the artistic legacy of imperial China it offers an unsurpassed view of Chinese civilization. The objects lavishly illustrated and described in this book which include magnificent ritual bronzes, precious jades, monumental landscape paintings and exquisite ceramics are among the finest ever created. Published to accompany the exhibition Splendors of Imperial China Treasures from the National Palace Museum Taipei, the book takes the reader through the most significant periods of Chinese culture: its foundations in the Neolithic and Bronze Ages; its flowering in the sophisticated world of the Sung dynasty; its exuberance during the Ming; and its technical brilliance under the Manchus. The author makes the unique beauty of this art accessible through comparisons of selected works and through discussion of their historical context. Formed by the emperors themselves, this extraordinary collection embodies the genius of China's rich artistic tradition. The only official catalogue of the exhibition, the CD-ROM contains full color images of each masterpiece along with such special features as close-up details, audio pronunciations of Chinese terms and names, and the ability to unroll precious handscrolls to their full length. Also included are informative texts, biographies, translations, maps, a chronology, a glossary, and an index. The related exhibition also appeared in Chicago and San Francisco and will be at the National Gallery of Art Washington from January 26 through April 6, 1997 Splendors of Imperial China Kuo li ku kung po wo yuan, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), National Gallery of Art (U.S.), 1996 Splendors of Imperial China Elizabeth Hammer, 1996 Gilded Splendor Hsueh-man Shen, 2006 Splendors of Imperial China Maxwell K. Hearn, 1996 Splendors of Imperial China, China Montréal. Palais de la civilisation, 1986 China Danielle Elisseeff, Palais de la civilisation (Montreal), 1986 Kingly Splendor Allison R. Miller, 2020-12-01 The Western Han dynasty (202 BCE-9 CE) was a foundational period for the artistic culture of ancient China, a fact particularly visible in the era's funerary art. Iconic forms of Chinese art such as dazzling suits of jade, cavernous rock-cut mountain tombs, fancifully ornate wall paintings, and armies of miniature terracotta warriors were prepared for the tombs of the elite during this period. Many of the finest objects of the Western Han have been excavated from the tombs of kings who administered local provinces on behalf of the emperors. Allison R. Miller paints a new picture of elite art production by revealing the contributions of the kings to Western Han artistic culture. She demonstrates that the kings were not mere imitators of the imperial court but rather innovators employing local materials and workshops and experimenting with new techniques to challenge the artistic hegemony of the imperial house Tombs and funerary art Miller contends functioned as an important vehicle of political expression as kings strove to persuade the population and other elites of their legitimacy Through case studies of five genres of royal art Miller argues that the political structure of the early Western Han with the emperor as one ruler among peers benefited artistic production and innovation Kingly Splendor brings together close readings of funerary art and architecture with nuanced analyses of political and institutional dynamics to provide an interdisciplinary revisionist history of the early Western Han
