The Tiger Rugs of Tibet Mimi Lipton, Cyril Barrett, Hayward Gallery, 1988 Rugs to Riches Caroline Bosly, 1985 Rugs to Riches is an authoritative lively and eminently practical guide for people who want to learn the dos and don'ts of choosing handmade oriental rugs Caroline Bosly one of the foremost rug brokers in the world describes the various types of rugs and their origins explains the difference between buying new and antique rugs and tells you how to buy a rug of any size at the best possible price Written in a simple straightforward style that strips away the mystique from oriental rugs Rugs to Riches also advises you on Determining whether a rug is handmade or not and whether it has been altered in any way Evaluating a rug's condition and determining whether the retail price is a fair one using a simple point system Bargaining down the price of a rug no matter what type of store you find it in Selling a rug and making a profit Decorating with oriental rugs and ensuring that they remain clean and in good repair Carpets from China, Xinjiang & Tibet Lennart Larsson, 1988

History of civilizations of Central Asia Adle, Chahryar, Baipakov, Karl M., Habib, Irfan, UNESCO, 2003-12-31 The period treated in this volume is highlighted by the slow retreat of nomadism and the progressive increase of sedentary polities owing to a fundamental change in military technology Furthermore this period certainly saw a growing contrast in the pace of economic and cultural progress between Central Asia and Europe The internal growth of the European economies and the influx of silver from the New World gave Atlantic Europe an increasingly important position in world trade and caused a major shift in inland Asian trade Thus 1850 marks the end of the total sway of pre modern culture as the extension of colonial dominance was accompanied by the influx of modern ideas Western Decorative Arts: Far Eastern ceramics and paintings; Persian and Indian rugs and carpets National Gallery of Art (U.S.), Virginia Bower, 1993 Catalog of the following works in the National Gallery of Art's collection of decorative arts Chinese porcelains from the Qing dynasty Persian and Indian rugs and carpets from the Peter A B Widener collection two Chinese paintings from the 19th century and a 17th century Coromandel lacquer screen Interior Design and Decoration, 1985 The Great Chinese Art Transfer Michael St. Clair, 2016-04-01 This book tells the story of how and why millions of Chinese works of art got exported to collectors and institutions in the West in particular to the United States As China's last dynasty was weakening and collapsing from 1860 into the early years of the twentieth century China's internal chaos allowed imperial and private Chinese collections to be scattered looted and sold A remarkable and varied group of Westerners entered the country had their eyes opened to centuries of Chinese creativity and gathered up paintings bronzes and ceramics as well as sculptures jades and bronzes The migration to America and Europe of China's art is one of the greatest outflows of a culture's artistic heritage in human history A good deal of the art procured by collectors and dealers some famous and others little known but all remarkable in individual ways eventually wound up in American and European museums Today some of the art still in private hands is returning to China via international auctions and aggressive purchases by Chinese millionaires The Macmillan Atlas of Rugs & Carpets David Black,1985 Oriental Carpets and Their Structure Jennifer Wearden,2003-10-29 Oriental carpets have always been prized in the West as luxury items and an understanding of their structure is essential to a proper appreciation of them This work covers the history of carpets in the West and then goes on to explore weaving methods and patterns Oriental Rugs of the Hajji Babas Daniel S. Walker,1982 Fifty of the finest Oriental rugs collected in the past five decades are assembled here to illustrate the extraordinary achievements of village and nomad rug weavers across Asia Included are examples from Turkey Iran the Caucasus Soviet Turkestan Central Asia and China All belong or once belonged to members of the Hajji Baba Club America s oldest and most prestigious rug society Although they are all referred to as rugs these pieces were not exclusively intended to be floor coverings Many decorated the walls of tents were used as bags for storing or transporting possessions served as saddle covers or blankets for horses and camels took the place of coverlets or provided a surface on which to kneel during prayer They were intended to be utilitarian but also highly decorative and their jewel like colors bold patterns and lustrous wool have proved irresistible to Western collectors Both pile rugs and flat woven kilims are represented in this selection Some are crowded with intricate geometric details worked in sublet shades others rely on a few simple motifs and striking color combinations Most were made in the nineteenth or early twentieth century The so termed classical rugs produced in court workshops in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries which are not represented here have largely disappeared from the marketplace but it is still possible to discover fine examples of the more recent weavings In addition to a detailed discussion and technical analysis of each rug Daniel S Walker Curator of Ancient Near Easter and Far Eastern Art at the Cincinnati Art Museum has provided a brief history of the Hajji Baba Club which should be of great interest to those who have recently fallen under the spell of Oriental rugs Fifty color plates a glossary of important terms and a bibliography make this volume a particularly useful reference for specialists and non specialist alike Inside jacket flap Textile Arts of the Islamic World ,1997 The Oriental Carpet P.
