Early Javanese Inscriptions Lars Gislén, Chris Eade, 2018-12-24 In spite of its being one of the cornerstones of historical research even the historical expert is understandably terrified by the complications involved in the calculation of dates Early Javanese Inscriptions puts the study of Indonesian epigraphical dating on a completely new footing both in terms of speed and reliability of the analytical procedures No luni solar calendrical system can be properly accounted for unless the system of intercalation is properly understood This study examines the early Javanese inscriptions taking account for the first time of the detailed astronomical information so routinely presented in the texts A computer analysis using a program specially developed for the purpose facilitates confirmation or correction of much of the material It also makes possible for the first time a description of the intercalation insertion of extra lunar months employed in that version of the luni solar calendar Authors have made use of the advanced Calendrical Computer Program presenting all the astronomical data and the Indian and indigenous Indonesian dating system data Early Javanese Inscriptions may serve as a model for any historian working on complex dating problems A reliable and after some practice easily accessible guide to the calculation of Javanese dates

Early Javanese Inscriptions John Christopher Eade, Lars Gislén, 2000 Even the historical expert is understandably terrified by the complications involved in the calculation of dates Early Javanese Inscriptions puts the study of Indonesian epigraphical dating on a completely new footing both in speed and in reliability It examines the early Javanese inscriptions taking account for the first time of the detailed astronomical information so routinely presented in the texts A computer analysis see <http://www.anu.edu.au/asianstudies/cvs/ceadecv.html> facilitates confirmation or correction of dates and now makes possible a description of the intercalation insertion of extra lunar months employed Early Javanese Inscriptions may serve as a model for any historian working on complex dating problems A reliable and after some practice easily accessible guide to the calculation of Javanese dates

The New and Correct Date of the Terengganu Inscription Ahmat Adam, 2022-12-06 The Terengganu Stone has generally been accepted as one of the oldest archaeological artifacts for the evidence of the arrival of Islam to Malaysia and Southeast Asia more generally Since its discovery in 1887 the Terengganu Inscription has drawn much interest from scholars of various disciplines Yet in this volume Emeritus Professor Dr Ahmat Adam argues that scholarship on the Inscription has consistently misdated the stone and misrepresented its true content Through philological and historical analysis he argues that the correct date of the Inscription is not 702 H or 1303 A D but 708 H or 1308 A D and that the Inscription also reveals the usage of a unique calendrical system in the early 14th century alongside other clues to the nature of historical Malay society
