investigated under Articles 81 and 82 of the EC Treaty and of the Merger Control Regulation and their right to challenge the Commission's decision in the Community Courts. It further assesses how their rights to due process in competition proceedings before the European Commission comply with the notion of administrative fairness enshrined in the European Convention on Human Rights in accordance with the case law of the European Court of Human Rights. In this study Arianna Andreangeli takes into account key developments such as modernisation and its impact on competition proceedings before the Commission, the debate on the principles of legal professional privilege, the protection against self-incrimination, the rule of ne bis in idem and the possibility of establishing an EU competition court. It offers an examination of the right to be heard, the right to have access to the Commission-held evidence and to legal professional privilege and the right to silence and to seek judicial review of Commission decisions and assess them in the light of the Strasbourg court's case law. Subsequent chapters present an overview of the procedural rights of the notifying parties in merger cases in both legal systems, surveyed, address the procedural rights of defendants in infringement cases and provide an international perspective on differences in the notification and enforcement procedures between legal systems. The final chapter draws comparative conclusions and includes a number of suggestions for improvement.

Conceptualising Procedural Fairness in EU Competition Law Haukur Logi Karlsson, 2020-09-17. What constitutes a fair procedure when it comes to EU competition law? This innovative book seeks to understand the philosophical considerations at the core of conflicting procedural fairness arguments in EU competition law practice. The author argues for a conceptualisation of procedural fairness as a distributional issue that can be solved by a practical fairness theory and a comprehensive methodology. To illustrate the usefulness of the conceptualisation, three procedural fairness problems from recent EU competition law practice are analysed: the KME Chalkor cases, the Groupe Gascogne cases, the regulatory question about using a collective redress mechanism for private enforcement of EU competition law. This unique approach provides a robust philosophical and methodological foundation for arguing about a wide range of procedural fairness dilemmas. The book is a must-read for academics and practitioners seeking an imaginative perspective on the philosophical foundations of arguments about procedural fairness in EU competition law and beyond.
