Ishler, William W. Wilen, 1988 The Dynamics of Instructional Groups National Society for the Study of Education. Committee on the Dynamics of Instructional Groups, Nelson Bollinger Henry, 1960 The Political Dynamics of American Education Frederick M. Wirt, Michael W. Kirst, 2001 Contrasting Dynamics in Education Politics of Extremes, 2015-01-01 This book aims to enhance understanding of school choice as a supra national travelling policy explored in two strikingly different societies Latin American Chile and North European Finland Chile was among the first countries to implement school choice as a policy which it did comprehensively in the early 1980s through the creation of a market environment Finland introduced parental choice of a school on a very moderate scale and without the market elements in the mid 1990s Predominant aspects of Chilean basic schooling include provision by for profit and non profit private and municipal organisations voucher system parental co payment and ranking lists Finland persists in keeping education under public authority governance and free of charge and in prohibiting profit making and rankings The wide range of sociologists of education contributing to this book offer novel analyses and perspectives on the operation of school choice in Chile the trailblazer and Finland the European PISA leader Agn s van Zanten s description of how school choice operates as a major dimension of social reproduction sets the scene After that Chilean and Finnish authors explore how the policy is displayed and used explicitly for very different societal purposes although implicitly following similar patterns in the two countries with their histories politics and cultures Empirically the focus is on how families view and act on school choice The research material includes large surveys interviews and ethnographic data gathered in urban Chile and Finland Capitalising on the concept of dynamics the book concludes with some insights into how this globally travelling education policy has materialised in two apparently dissimilar societies and their localities Classroom Dynamics Jill Hadfield, 1992-10-22 Explores the problems teachers have managing groups and suggests various strategies which can be used to lead groups effectively This work examines the characteristics of a successful group It provides activities suitable for classes of various levels of general or specialized English courses The Dynamics of Educational Change California. Bureau of National Defense Education Act Administration, 1963 Dynamics in Education Politics Hannu Simola, 2017 Classroom Dynamics Ellen B. Mandinach, Hugh F. Cline, 2013-12-16 This book reports an attempt to introduce change in schools using a computer based curriculum innovation for teaching higher order thinking skills to middle and high school students One of the volume s themes is the extraordinary complexity and difficulty of facilitating such change in schools A corollary of that theme is the fact that patience must be an integral part of the strategy when promoting or studying change in schools In reporting the activities during the early years of a technological innovation and research project in which the emphasis thus far has been primarily on establishing the change this book focuses on describing the move to a technology based learning environment As such it details an ongoing process a fascinating process and one that is likely to be repeated in the near future in countless schools throughout the nation Education and Social Dynamics Arnd-Michael Nohl, R. Nazli

Somel,2015-08-27 Education and Social Dynamics offers a new approach to analyzing curriculum change by investigating the entanglement of education and society in markedly heterogeneous Turkey which has recently witnessed nation wide curriculum reforms While the new curriculum has attempted to homogenize all Turkish primary schools since 2005 Nohl and Somel drawing on a theoretical differentiation of social entities reveal how subsequent curricular practices have had to account for the diversity of milieus and organizations in the nation s educational sector and how inequality and competition run rampant in the standardization efforts Using expert interviews group discussions and other empirical data that compare instructional practices within five distinct schools the book represents a breakthrough in our understanding of developments in Turkey and their significance for extant theories of curriculum development and reform worldwide By linking specific case study material from Turkey to intensifying international concerns it provides an important and relevant global commentary
