Tuberculosis Control World Health Organization,2006 This is the 10th WHO annual report on surveillance planning and financing for global tuberculosis control including data on case notifications and treatment outcomes from 200 national TB control programmes and an analysis of plans budgets expenditures and progress in DOTS Directly Observed Therapy Short Course strategies for 22 high burden countries Eleven consecutive years of data are now available to assess progress towards the Millennium Development Goals targets for TB control Findings include that in 2004 there were nine million new cases of TB and an estimated two million deaths from TB including those co infected with HIV The TB incidence rate was stable or falling in five out of six WHO regions with the number of cases rising in Africa where the TB epidemic is still driven by the spread of HIV More than 80 per cent of all TB patients live in sub Saharan Africa and Asia Global Tuberculosis Report 2012 World Health Organization,2012 The World Health Organization WHO Global Tuberculosis Report 2012

provides the latest information and analysis about the tuberculosis TB epidemic and progress in TB care and control at global regional and country levels It is based primarily on data reported by WHO s Member States in annual rounds of global TB data collection In 2012 182 Member States and a total of 204 countries and territories that collectively have more than 99% of the world s TB cases reported data Executive summary p 1 The Health of Newcomers Patricia Illingworth, Wendy E. Parmet, 2017-01-24 Immigration and health care are hotly debated and contentious issues Policies that relate to both issues to the health of newcomers often reflect misimpressions about immigrants and their impact on health care systems Despite the fact that immigrants are typically younger and healthier than natives and that many immigrants play a vital role as care givers in their new lands native citizens are often reluctant to extend basic health care to immigrants choosing instead to let them suffer to let them die prematurely or to expedite their return to their home lands Likewise many nations turn against immigrants when epidemics such as Ebola strike under the false belief that native populations can be kept well only if immigrants are kept out In The Health of Newcomers Patricia Illingworth and Wendy E Parmet demonstrate how shortsighted and dangerous it is to craft health policy on the basis of ethnocentrism and xenophobia Because health is a global public good and people benefit from the health of neighbor and stranger alike it is in everyone s interest to ensure the health of all Drawing on rigorous legal and ethical arguments and empirical studies as well as deeply personal stories of immigrant struggles Illingworth and Parmet make the compelling case that global phenomena such as poverty the medical brain drain organ tourism and climate change ought to inform the health policy we craft for newcomers and natives alike
