Death in Life Robert Jay Lifton, 1968 A psychiatrist probes the effect of the atomic bomb on the emotions and consciences of the survivors     At the End of Life Lee Gutkind, 2012-04-10 What should medicine do when it can't save your life The modern healthcare system has become proficient at staving off death with aggressive interventions And yet eventually everyone dies and although most Americans say they would prefer to die peacefully at home more than half of all deaths take place in hospitals or health care facilities At the End of Life the latest collaborative book project between the Creative Nonfiction Foundation and the Jewish Healthcare Foundation tackles this conundrum head on Featuring twenty two compelling personal medical narratives the collection explores death dying and palliative care and highlights current features flaws and advances in the healthcare system Here a poet and former hospice worker reflects on death's mysteries a son wanders the halls of his mother's nursing home lost in the small absurdities of the place a grief counselor struggles with losing his own grandfather a medical intern traces the origins and meaning of time a mother anguishes over her decision to turn off her daughter's life support and allow her organs to be harvested and a nurse remembers many of her former patients These original compelling personal narratives reveal the inner workings of hospitals homes and hospices where patients their doctors and their loved ones all battle to hang on and to let go     Death and the Life After Billy Graham, 1994-10 Explores issues of death and afterlife including euthanasia suicide living wills Provides help with comforting those who are facing death planning a funeral and more     Lengthening of Human Life in Retrospect and Prospect Irving Fisher, 1928

The Role of Death in Life John Behr, Conor Cunningham, 2016-03-31 The relation between life and death is a subject of perennial relevance for all human beings and indeed the whole world and the entire universe in as much as according to the saying of ancient Greek philosophy all things that come into being pass away Yet it is also a topic of increasing complexity for life and death now appear to be more intertwined than previously or commonly thought Moreover the relation between life and death is also one of increasing urgency as through the twin phenomena of an increase in longevity unprecedented in human history and the rendering of death dying and the dead person all but invisible people living in the industrialized and post industrialized Western world of today have lost touch with the reality of death This radically new situation and predicament has implications medical ethical economic philosophical and not least theological that have barely begun to be addressed This volume gathers together essays by a distinguished and diverse group of scientists theologians philosophers and health practitioners originally presented in a symposium sponsored by the John Templeton Foundation     A Matter of Death and Life Irvin Yalom, Marilyn Yalom, 2021-04-07     Life Lessons Elisabeth Kübler-Ross, David Kessler, 2001-11-05 A guide to living life in the moment uses lessons learned from the dying to help the living find the most enjoyment and happiness     The World Today, 1927     New Creation in Paul's Letters and Thought Moyer V. Hubbard, 2002-07-11 As a biblical motif new creation resonates throughout the pages of the Jewish and Christian scriptures and occupies a central place in the apostle Paul's vision of the Christian life. Yet the biblical and extra-biblical occurrences of this theme vary widely in meaning, referring to either a new cosmos, a new community, or a new individual. Beginning with the Old Testament and working through the important texts of Second Temple Judaism, Moyer V. Hubbard focuses on how the motif functions in the argument strategy and literary structure of these documents, highlighting its role as the solution to the perceived plight. He then explores in detail which senses of the term Paul intends in Galatians 6:15 and 2 Corinthians 5:17, concluding that new creation in Paul's letters describes the Spirit-wrought newness of the person in Christ and is fundamentally anthropological in orientation.
