The Most Dangerous Art Donald Loewen, 2008-01-01 The book shows how three of Russia's most important twentieth century poets used autobiographical prose to defend poetry and the poet in an era when poetry was under attack It juxtaposes these autobiographies with each other and with the cultural political events that followed Russia's 1917 October Revolution in a way that has never previously been attempted

The Interlude in Academe David J. Siegel, 2023-01-17
This book is an exploration of the idea that interludes or disruptions to our usual rhythms, rituals, and routines offer individuals and institutions alike an incomparable opportunity to examine the governing assumptions that undergird academic work and to experiment with alternative modes and models of intellectual life. Using the COVID-19 pandemic as the prime example of an externally imposed interlude on a mass scale, the book argues that the compulsion of most colleges and universities to return to business as usual reveals that the business of the academic enterprise is only tangentially about learning, ideas, or the life of the mind. It is mostly about keeping the institutional machinery running at all costs, typically at the behest of state and market forces. Meanwhile, interludes of any size or duration, from massively disruptive global pandemics to brief elective personal retreats, offer occasions for interrogating our entrenched policies and practices and are simultaneously spaces for the pursuit of learning and idea play both within and beyond institutions.

Roman Poets in Modern Guise Theodore Ziolkowski, 2020
Identifies and explores Roman modes of poetry as received by twentieth and twenty-first century Anglo-American, German, and French poets. Michigan Quarterly Review, 2018

Thom Gunn in Conversation with James Campbell Thom Gunn, James Campbell, 2000
The book contains an extended interview, a career sketch, and an updated version of Hagstrom and Bixby's comprehensive 1979 bibliography. It also contains several pages of quotations from Gunn's critics. Also included is Gunn's recent poem "Clean Clothes, a Soldier's Song." This volume gives us an informative, friendly 42-page Q&A between Gunn and critic, biographer, and TLS eminence James Campbell, conducted in January 1999 after Gunn had completed what's his new book "Boss Cupid." As usual, Gunn comes across as admirable, reserved about his private life, thoughtful about his principles. He's someone who's quite devoted to nightlife, to sex, of course, to fun, and yet he's articulated a liveable moral stringency and an entirely appealing way of connecting art to ethical choice. It's dangerous to take anyone's life as exemplary, that must be one of the differences between people and poems, but Gunn's in some ways can seem so. Stephen Burt, "Nightlife and Morality," Poetry Review, Summer 2000

The Light Within the Light Jeanne Brahm, 2007
Each poet profile in The Light Within the Light is based on intimate personal interviews and explores the landscapes, lives, and artistic achievements of the poet. Several poems are woven into each essay, allowing the reader to experience the poet's world in his or her own words. Since the paths of the four poets cross frequently, the essays converse with one another, layering the narrative.

Language Philip Mead, 2008 A revelation in literary criticism Philip Mead's Networked Language offers absorbing new perspectives on Australian poetry and its cultural life This study presents new ways of understanding Australian poetry drawing on an equal fascination with the artifice of poetry and the complexity of culture It is about the ways poetry changes in relation to its social political and historical contexts the way poetic communities and the readerships of poetry have changed through history and continue to change in the present

Poetry Harriet Monroe, 1995 English Studies Bruce McComiskey, 2006 Well known scholars in the field explore the important qualities and functions of English studies constituent disciplines Ellen Barton on linguistics and discourse analysis Janice Lauer on rhetoric and composition Katharine Haake on creative writing Richard Taylor on literature and literary criticism Amy Elias on critical theory and cultural studies and Robert Yagelski on English education and the productive differences and similarities among them that define English studies continuing importance Faculty and students in both undergraduate and graduate courses will find the volume an invaluable overview of an increasingly fragmented field as will department administrators who are responsible for evaluating the contributions of diverse faculty members but whose academic training may be specific to one discipline Each chapter of English Studies is an argument for the value the right to equal status of each individual discipline among all English studies disciplines yet the book is also an argument for disciplinary integration
