Aboriginal Suicide is Different Colin Tatz, 2005 Every Australian's birthright includes the expectation of a healthy and possibly happy life of some longevity assisted by all the services which a civilised society can make possible But this is not yet within the Aboriginal or Maori Pacific Islander Canadian Inuit and American Indian grasp That so many young Aboriginal people prefer death to life implies a rejection of what people in the broader Australian society have on offer It reflects a failure as a nation to provide sufficient incentives for young Aborigines to remain alive This is a study of youth who have or feel they have no purpose in life or who may be seeking freedom in death It is a portrait of life and of self destruction by young Aboriginal men and women To comprehend this relatively recent phenomenon which occurs more outside than inside custody one has to appreciate Aboriginal history the effects of which contribute more to an understanding of suicide today than do psychological or medical theories about the victim Aboriginal youth at risk are suffering more from social than from mental disorder Adopting a historical and anthropological approach to suicide in New South Wales the Australian Capital Territory and New Zealand this book documents rates of suicide that may well be the world's worst It tries to glimpse the soul of the suicide rather than merely his or her contribution to our national statistics Indigenous People, Race Relations and Australian Sport Christopher J. Hallinan, Barry Judd, 2016-05-06 The Indigenous peoples of Australia have a proud history of participation and the achievement of excellence in Australian sports Historically Australian sports have provided a rare and important social context in which Indigenous Australians could engage with and participate in non Indigenous society Today Indigenous Australian people in sports continue to provide important points of reference around which national public dialogue about racial and cultural relations in Australia takes place Yet much media coverage surrounding these issues and almost all academic interest concerning Indigenous people and Australian sports is constructed from non Indigenous perspectives With a few notable exceptions the racial and cultural implications of Australian sports as viewed from an Indigenous Australian Studies perspective remains understudied The media coverage and academic discussion of Indigenous people and Australian sports is largely constructed within the context of Anglo Australian nationalist discourse and becomes most emphasised when reporting on aspects of racial and cultural explanations of Indigenous sporting excellence and failures associated anomalous behaviour This book investigates the many ways that Indigenous Australians have engaged with Australian sports and the racial and cultural readings that have been associated with these engagements Questions concerning the importance that sports play in constructions of Australian indigeneities and the extent to which these have been maintained as marginal to Australian national identity are the central critical themes of this book This book was published as a special issue of Sport in Society The Sealed Box of Suicide Colin Tatz, Simon Tatz, 2019-09-23 This unique book explores suicide as more than just a manner of death It challenges the myths beliefs dogma and customs of suicide from the earliest theories It offers fresh insights into dark spaces World wide suicide deaths are three times greater than homicides and are increasing Current approaches to stem this epidemic are not working or have very limited success Mental health interventions theories about a suicide or a depression gene and the ever increasing dispensing of antidepressants have not lessened the stark statistics The authors attempt to understand the soul of the suicide addressing the social economic political historical geographic and cultural contexts in which suicide occurs The social order is indelibly connected to settings places circumstances relationships occupations climate and milieu Most of the 36 diverse categories of self motivated deaths defy a one size fits all approach Recognising contexts and looking outside the confines that have imprisoned thinking about suicide could well be more effective in alleviating or mitigating suicide than years searching for a possible vaccination against such death The book is an appeal to move beyond the medical model of suicide Written in a very accessible style it is of interest to social scientists philosophers professionals and researchers in public health medical and behavioural sciences and lay persons alike A critical stimulating and moral tale of suicide that provides a new look Michael J Kral PhD School of Social Work Wayne State University Michigan USA a major breakthrough and a step in the right direction in addressing the problem of suicide Said Shahtahmasebi PhD Research Director the Good Life Research Centre Trust Christchurch New Zealand informed understanding of suicide s multiplicity and historical instability Jennifer White PhD School of Youth and Child Care University of Victoria British Columbia Canada Genocide Perspectives VI Nikki Marczak, Kirril Shields ,2020-12-21 Genocide Perspectives VI grapples with two core themes the personal toll of genocide and processes that facilitate the crime From political choices governments and leaders make through to denialism and impunity the crime of genocide recurs again and again across the globe At what cost to individuals and communities What might the legacy of this criminality be This collection of essays examines the personal sacrifice genocide takes from those who live through the trauma and the generations that follow Contributors speak to the way visual art and literature attempt to represent genocide hoping to make sense of problematic histories while also offering a means of reflection after years of slow violence or silenced memories Some authors generously allow us into their own histories or contemplate how they may have experienced genocide had they been born in another time or place What facets contribute to the processes that lead to or enable the crime of genocide This collection explores those processes through a variety of case studies and lenses How do nurses whose role is inherently linked to care and compassion become mass killers How do restrictions on religious freedom play a role in advancing genocidal policies and why do perpetrators of genocide often target religious leaders Why is it so important for Australia and other nations with histories of colonial genocide to acknowledge their past Among the essays published in this volume we have the privilege and the sorrow of publishing the very last essay Professor Colin Tatz wrote before his passing in 2019 His contribution reveals yet again the enormous influence of both his research and his original ideas on genocide He reflects on continuing legacies for Indigenous Australian communities with whom he worked for many decades and adds nuance to contemporary understanding of the Armenian Genocide and the Holocaust two other cases to which he was deeply committed      Aboriginal Suicide is Different Colin Tatz,2002      Genocide Perspectives V Nikki Marczak,Kirril Shields,2017-01-01 Despite the catch cry bandied about after the Holocaust Never Again genocides continue to destroy cultures and communities around the globe In this collection of essays Australian scholars discuss the crime of genocide examining regimes and episodes that stretch across time and geography Included are discussions on Australia s own history of genocide against its Indigenous peoples mass killing and human rights abuses in Indonesia and North Korea and new insights into some of the core twentieth century genocides such as the Holocaust and the Armenian Genocide Scholars grapple with ongoing questions of memory and justice governmental responsibility the role of the medical professions gendered experiences artistic representation and best practice in genocide education Importantly genocide prevention and the role of the global community is also explored within this collection This volume of Genocide Perspectives is dedicated to Professor Colin Tatz AO an inspirational figure in the field of human rights and one of the forefathers of genocide studies in Australia      Aboriginal Suicide is Different Colin Tatz,1999      Australian Aboriginal Studies ,2004      Aboriginal Suicide is Different ,1999 A Report to the Criminology Research Council on CRC Project 25 96 7 including research on origins prevalence the nature and the social factors      Australian Indigenous Road Safety Graham Arthur Brice,2000 Draws on national and international literature on Indigenous road safety Australian Indigenous road crash data and coronial records in order to examine Indigenous road trauma and to consider countermeasures to reduce it road deaths includes comparisons with New Zealand Canada and the United States provides a set of recommendations for community based approaches that will address Indigenous Australians high death rate from road accidents      ATSIC News Australia.
