Death Dying And Social Differences:

Death, Dying and Social Differences David Oliviere, Barbara Monroe, 2004 Death, Dying, and Social Differences David Oliviere, Barbara Monroe, Sheila Payne, 2011-09-15 Society has become increasingly diverse multi cultural multi faith and wide ranging in family structures The wealthier are healthier and social inequalities are more pronounced Respecting and working with the range of differences among service users families and communities in health and social care with ill dying and bereaved people is a neglected area in the literature As the principles of palliative and end of life care increasingly permeate the mainstream of health and social care services it is important that professionals are sensitive and respond to the differing needs of individuals from diverse socio economic backgrounds ethnicities beliefs abilities and sexual orientations as well as to the different contexts and social environments in which people live and die This book explores what underpins inequality disadvantage and injustice in access to good end of life care Increasingly clinicians policy planners and academics are concerned about inequity in service provision Internationally there is an increasing focus and sense of urgency both on delivering good care in all settings regardless of diagnosis and on better meeting the needs of vulnerable and disadvantaged groups National initiatives emphasise the importance of resolving disparities in care and harnessing empowered user voices to drive change This newly expanded fully revised second edition with 11 new chapters provides a comprehensive analysis of discrimination difference and disadvantage in end of life care and offers practical guidance for all who seek to support the equitable provision of good end of life care Death and Social Policy in Challenging Times Kate Woodthorpe, Liam Foster, 2016-04-08 The study of death has the capacity to bring together a range of policy areas Yet death is often overlooked within policy debates in the UK and beyond and within gerontology Bringing together a range of scholars engaged in policy associated with death this collection provides a holistic account of how death factors in social policy Within this issues covered include inheritance palliative care euthanasia funeral costs bereavement support marginalised deaths and disposal practices At the heart of the book the volume recognises that the issues identified are likely to intensify and expand over the next twenty years as death rates continue to rise Death and Dying Glennys Howarth, 2007-01-05 Glennys Howarth provides a cutting edge comprehensive discussion of the key topics in death and dying and in so doing demonstrates that the study of mortality is germane to all areas of sociology The book is organized thematically utilizing empirical material from cross national and cross cultural perspectives It carefully addresses questions about social attitudes to mortality the social nature of death and dying and explanations for change and diversity and explores traditional and contemporary experiences of death Jacket Interdisciplinary Research on Healthcare and Social Service Sheying Chen, Leidong Wei, 2024-09-24 Research on healthcare and social service including professional social work is inherently an international subject Each nation has a story of coping with the recent pandemic in the context of its political economy and cultural historical settings A study of various especially non Western cases is essential to an adequate understanding of the undertaking China is undoubtedly an important case with one of the largest populations on earth. It is unique in view of so-called Chinese characteristics, a style model sometimes fundamentally different from Western societies. Any lessons learned from the Chinese experiences would help with a better understanding of healthcare and social welfare provisions on a global scale. The book is written by a scholarly team who are experts in healthcare, social work, and related fields. Its primary audiences are scholars and students in Health, Mental Health, Social Work, Welfare Services, Public Social Policy, Philanthropy, and Nonprofit Organizations, International Cross-Cultural Studies, and Chinese/China research. Oxford Textbook of Palliative Medicine, Geoffrey W. C. Hanks, 2011-07-21. Emphasising the multi-disciplinary nature of palliative care, the fourth edition of this text also looks at the individual professional roles that contribute to the best quality palliative care.

Handbook of Aging and the Social Sciences, Linda George, 2010-11-26. Handbook of Aging and the Social Sciences, Seventh Edition, provides extensive reviews and critical evaluations of research on the social aspects of aging. It also makes available major references and identifies high-priority topics for future research. The book is organized into four parts. Part 1 reviews developments in the field of age and the life course, ALC studies, and presents guidelines on conducting cohort analysis. Part 2 covers the demographic aspects of aging, longevity, trends, disability, and aging and stratification and inequality research. Part 3 includes chapters that examine socioeconomic position and racial/ethnic disparities in health at older ages, the role of social factors in the distribution, antecedents, and consequences of depression, and aspects of private wealth transfers and the changing nature of family gift-giving. Part 4 deals with pension reform in Europe, the political activities of older Americans, the future of retirement security, and gender differences in old age. The Handbook is intended for researchers, professional practitioners, and students in the field of aging. It can also serve as a basic reference tool for scholars, professionals, and others who are not presently engaged in research and practice directly focused on aging and the aged. Contains all the main areas of social science/gerontological research in one volume. Begins with a section on theory and methods. Edited by one of the fathers of gerontology, Binstock, and contributors represent top scholars in gerontology.

Attitudes and Cultural Differences of Medical Social Workers Toward Death and Dying, Tonia Yost, 1993. Active and Healthy Aging and Quality of Life: Interventions and Outlook for the Future, volume II, Shekhar Chauhan, Petra Heidler, David Jean Simon, 2024-09-10. The continuous growth of older populations as a consequence of demographic changes is a huge global challenge. The growing proportion of older adults not only burdens the healthcare system, specifically in developing countries, but also poses a challenge at the household level, specifically in nuclear and one-person households. For societies as a whole, to avoid costly and negative effects, it is crucial to increase their knowledge of how to promote good health among older adults so that they can live longer and enjoy a better quality of life. Active aging is the process of optimizing opportunities for health, participation, and security in order to enhance quality of life as people age. An active and healthy life has remained one of the most important aspirations for all people, both young and older adults alike. This ambition has become a genuine possibility for many due to a rising life expectancy among people of diverse attributes across the world While celebrating longer life and more financial security in later life than ever before we need to challenge how these aspirations can be sustained through our own behavioral responses and through public policy institutional reforms and innovations The challenge is to identify recommend and promote strategies and interventions that stimulate and sustain the activity independence and health of people of all ages especially older adults and in the process promote the well being and quality of life of people and make public welfare systems more sustainable
