Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps communities solve problems by applying knowledge and inventing things. After "brain" work, a local science team will create a solution to a problem by using evidence to make or improve solutions that have a positive impact. Understanding the problem fully, including its causes and effects, is the first step in finding an effective solution.

Designing solutions requires considering various conditions, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Community members from a particular local challenge, however, are the most important to weigh. Their needs affect the solution, creating reasons for a team that they affect its cost and ease of use. Some influenced the effectiveness of the solution.

After identifying a solution, documenting how it works, what conditions affected it, and any compromises (trade-offs) that have been and should be made on the way. Communication, using simple words, and reflecting on the results of the solution are important steps. The process of sharing findings locally encourages responsible decision-making and team communication. Here.

01. Mark the best answer for each question.

1. What is the first important step when working on a local problem?
 - a. Designing a local experiment
 - b. Spreading the most expensive materials
 - c. Spreading safety concerns
 - d. Understanding the problem fully
2. What does documenting conditions in a solution help with?
 - a. Finding the problem of the solution
 - b. Evaluating the solution for safety and safety
 - c. Showing how to avoid safety concerns
 - d. Determining what the solution has no costs
3. Which is an example of a trade-off?
 - a. Finding a solution with no cost
 - b. Spending money on the solution
 - c. The time and money needed to solve the problem
 - d. Using unsafe materials
4. Why is compromise important?
 - a. To avoid not being in agreement
 - b. To make ideas stronger
 - c. To finish the problem by combining ideas
 - d. To avoid discussing the problem

02. Mark if the statement is True (T) or False (F).

1. A local science team should only focus on the problem itself, not the resources available to solve it.

Answer for each question.

1. Is it important to understand the problem fully before designing a solution?

2. Why must this be considered in designing a solution?

3. What might happen when creating a solution that

4. How might science solutions be implemented?

5. Why are trade-offs essential in scientific understanding?
