Tampa Spring Training Tales Rick Vaughn,2024-03-11 Author Rick Vaughn uncovers the stories that keep Tampa's passion for the National Pastime burning. Since 1913 Tampa has provided the background for some of the Major League Baseball's most iconic spring moments led of course by the longest home run of Babe Ruth's career. Tampa was the scene of the Grapefruit League's first no-hitter and the only spring time All-Star Game. It was the first gathering place of the Big Red Machine and the Core Four. Well over 125 Hall of Famers honed their craft among the city's three major league ballparks: Plant Field, Al Lopez Field, and Steinbrenner Field. All of it resulted from a diverse city's love of the game that began with baseball-crazed cigar factory workers before the turn of the 20th century.

Under the March Sun Charles Fountain, 2009-03-04 An entertaining cultural history that taps into the romance of baseball even as it reveals its more hard-nosed commercial machinations. Under the March Sun recounts for the first time the full and fascinating history of spring training and its growth from a shoestring budget roadtrip into a billion-dollar-a-year business. If in the early days southern hotels only reluctantly admitted ballplayers, today cities fight for teams by spending millions in public money to build ever more elaborate spring training stadiums.

The Great Red Sox Spring Training Tour of 1911 Bill Nowlin, 2014-01-10 In 1911 decades before coast-to-coast travel became a fact of life in major league baseball, the Boston Red Sox embarked on the most ambitious spring training trip ever taken. After a full slate of games throughout California, the team decamped from Redondo Beach and made its way east, stopping in 10 states and the Arizona Territory and playing in places such as Pueblo, Yuma, Wichita, and Lincoln, traveling exclusively by railroad. By the time the team finished up its preseason schedule, beating Harvard on their first day back in Boston, the Red Sox had played a staggering 63 games.

Pitching to the Corners Don August, Mark Knudson, 2024-09-23 Most professional baseball players hang up their spikes for good after their time in the major or minor leagues. Don August chose a different path. In 1989 August was the Milwaukee Brewers Opening Day starting pitcher. The year before he went 13-7 and finished fourth in the balloting for American League Rookie of the Year. He was the Brewers Ace and then suddenly he wasn't. By 1992 August was a free agent looking for an opportunity that no big league team was willing to offer. After playing winter ball in Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic, he signed to play in Mexico. After refusing to be a replacement player during the Major League Baseball lockout in 1994, he continued his career in Taiwan, learning new languages, earning multiple awards, making game show appearances, and surviving earthquakes, gambling scandals, and a hurricane. After five years, August left Taiwan and ended up in Europe, pitching his team to the Italian League title. This book is the complete autobiography of a singular baseball player with a storied international career to which few players can lay claim.

Spring Training in Bradenton and Sarasota Raymond Sinibaldi, 2013 McKechnie Field in Bradenton, Florida, is the oldest active major league spring training facility in the country. Opened in the spring of 1923 with Commissioner Keneshaw Mountain Landis in attendance, it has played host to six different major league teams, with the Pittsburgh Pirates calling it home since 1969. The New York Giants traveled to Sarasota in 1924 as the first of five teams to venture to its confines. These two cities, both situated on the Gulf Coast of Florida, boast nearly a century of baseball.
