Bighorse The Warrior:

Bighorse the Warrior Tiana Bighorse, 1994-05-01 I want to talk about my tragic story because if I don't it will get into my mind and get into my dream and make me crazy When the Navajos were taken from their land by the federal government in the 1860s thousands lost their lives on the infamous Long Walk while those who eluded capture lived in constant fear These men and women are now dead but their story lives on in the collective memory of their tribe Gus Bighorse lived through that period of his people's history and his account of it recalled by his daughter Tiana and retold in her father's voice provides authentic glimpses into Navajo life and values of a century ago Born around 1846 Gus was orphaned at sixteen when his parents were killed by soldiers and he went into hiding with other Navajos banded together under chiefs like Manuelito Over the coming years he was to see members of his tribe take refuge in Canyon de Chelly endure the Long Walk from Fort Defiance to Bosque Redondo in 1864 and go into hiding at Navajo Mountain Gus himself was the leader of one of Manuelito's bands who fought against Kit Carson's troops After the Navajos were allowed to return to their land Gus took up the life of a horseman only to see his beloved animals decimated in a government stock reduction program I know some people died of their tragic story says Gus They think about it and think about how many relatives they lost Their parents got shot They get into shock That is what kills them That is why we warriors have to talk to each other We wake ourselves up get out of the shock And that is why I tell my kids what happened so it won't be forgot Throughout his narrative he makes clear those human qualities that for the Navajos define what it is to be a warrior vision compassion courage and endurance Befitting the oral tradition of her people Tiana Bighorse draws on her memory to tell her father's story In doing so she ensures that a new generation of Navajos will know how the courage of their ancestors enabled their people to have their reservation today They paid for our land with their lives Following the text is a chronology of Navajo history with highlights of Gus Bighorse's life placed in the context of historical events

Bighorse the Warrior Tiana Bighorse, 1994-05-01 An account of Bighorse's life recalled by his daughter Tiana providing glimpses into Navajo life and values of a century ago

Women Ethnographers and Native Women Storytellers Susan Berry Brill de Ramírez, 2015-11-19 This book focuses on the collaborative work between Native women storytellers and their female ethnographers and or editors but the book is also about what it is that is constitutive of scientific rigor factual accuracy cultural authenticity and storytelling signification and meaning Regardless of discipline academic ethnographers who conducted their field work research during the twentieth century were trained in the accepted scientific methods and theories of the time that prescribed observation objectivity and evaluative distance In contradistinction to such prescribed methods regarding the ethnographic work conducted among Native Americans it turns out that the intersubjectively relational work of women both ethnographers and the Indigenous storytellers with whom they worked has produced far more reliably factual historically accurate and tribally specific Indigenous autobiographies than the more scientifically objective approaches of most of the male ethnographers This volume provides a close lens to the work of a number of women ethnographers and Native American women storytellers to elucidate the effectiveness of their relational methods Through a combined rhetorical and literary analysis of these ethnographies we are able to differentiate the products of the women s working relationships By shifting our focus away from the surface level textual reading that largely approaches the texts as factually informative documents literary analysis provides access into the deeper levels of the storytelling that lies beneath the surface of the edited texts Non Native scholars and editors such as Franc Johnson Newcomb Ruth Underhill Nancy Lurie Julie Cruikshank and No l Bennett and Native storytellers and writers such as Grandma Klah Mar a Chona Mountain Wolf Woman Mrs Angela Sidney Mrs Kitty Smith Mrs Annie Ned and Tiana Bighorse help us to understand that there are ways by which voices and worlds are more and less disclosed for posterity The results vary based upon the range of factors surrounding their production but consistent across each case is the fact that informational accuracy is contingent upon the the degree of mutual respect and collaboration in the women s working relationships And it is in their pioneering intersubjective methodologies that the work of these women deserves far greater attention and approbation
