Ecstasy and Enlightenment Ali S. Asani,2002-03-29 The devotional literature of the Ismailis in the Indo Pakistan subcontinent is a rich seam of creativity in the cultural heritage of Islam This book looks at the ginans a large corpus of hymns and poems composed in a variety of Indic languages and attributed to a series of preacher saints who propagated Ismaili Islam in the subcontinent over several centuries The work explores the origins of this literature in the larger historical cultural and religious contexts of the Sufi Bhakti and Sant movements in medieval India The characteristics of the ginans are explored and the Khojki script in which they were written There is also a look at the continuing enthusiasm for this poetic tradition in the religious life of contemporary Nizari Ismaili communities of South Asian origin

Ismaili Hymns from South Asia Zawahir Moir,Christopher Shackle,2015-03-04 The Aga Khans have long played a prominent part on the international stage but much less tends to be understood about the most important group of their followers the Khoja Ismailis of South Asia who are now also settled in many other parts of the world Even less is generally known about the hymns called ginans which have historically formed so central an element in the religious life and rituals of the Ismaili community The principal aim of this anthology is to fill this gap by providing a sympathetic introduction to this still largely unexplored tradition of South Asian devotional literature and to draw attention to the many features of remarkable interest which it contains Devotional Literature in South Asia Winand M. Callewaert, Dieter Taillieu, 2002 Regional Communities of Devotion in South Asia Gil Ben-Herut, Jon Keune, Anne Monius, 2019-07-19 This book explores the key motif of the religious other in devotional bhakti literatures and practices from across the Indian subcontinent unmasks processes of representation that involve adoption appropriation and rejection of different social and religious agents The book reconsiders and challenges inherited notions of the bhakta s or devotee s other Considering the ways in which bhakti might be conceived as having an inter regional impact as a force discourse network mythology ethic the book critically engages with extant scholarly narratives about what bhakti is and traces when and how those narratives have been used The sheer diversity of South Asia s devotional traditions renders them an especially rich resource for examining social and religious fault lines thereby furthering scholarly understanding of how communalism and sectarianism originate and develop on local or regional levels with wider geographic implications Bringing together studies from a subcontinent wide variety of linguistic geographical and historical frames for the first time this book will be an important contribution to the literature on bhakti and will be of interest to scholars of South Asian Religions and Asian Religions The Self Possessed Frederick M. Smith, 2006 The Self Possessed is a multifaceted diachronic study reconsidering the very nature of religion in South Asia the culmination of years of intensive research Frederick M Smith proposes that positive oracular or ecstatic possession is the most common form of spiritual expression in India and that it has been linguistically distinguished from negative disease producing possession for thousands of years In South Asia possession has always been broader and more diverse than in the West where it has been almost entirely characterized as demonic At best spirit possession has been regarded as a medically treatable psychological ailment and at worst as a condition that requires exorcism or punishment In South and East Asia ecstatic or oracular possession has been widely practiced throughout history occupying a position of respect in early and recent Hinduism and in certain forms of Buddhism Smith analyzes Indic literature from all ages the earliest Vedic texts the Mahabharata Buddhist Jain Yogic Ayurvedic and Tantric texts Hindu devotional literature Sanskrit drama and narrative literature and more than a hundred ethnographies He identifies several forms of possession including festival initiatory oracular and devotional and demonstrates their multivocality within a wide range of sects and religious identities Possession is common among both men and women and is practiced by members of all social and caste strata Smith theorizes on notions of embodiment disembodiment selfhood personal identity and other key issues through the prism of possession redefining the relationship between Sanskritic and vernacular culture and between elite and popular religion Smith s study is also comparative introducing considerable material from Tibet classical China modern America and elsewhere Brilliant and persuasive The Self Possessed provides careful new translations of rare material and is the most comprehensive study in any language on this subject Ismaili

Hymns from South Asia C. Shackle, Zawahir Moir, 1992 The Poetics of Devotion Rachel Dwyer, 2001 This text introduces a major poet scarcely known to scholars outside Gujarat in India Kavi Dayarambhai 1777-1852 and analyses the poet's place in the history of Indian literature Historical Dictionary of the Ismailis Farhad Daftary, 2025-12-11 Designed as a mini encyclopedia this dictionary will serve as first point of reference for information on all the key Ismaili figures concepts institutions and traditions as well as regions of importance in Ismaili history In addition numerous Muslim dynasties and figures with whom the Ismailis have come into contact are included Accessions List, South Asia Library of Congress. Devotional Islam in Contemporary South Asia Michel Boivin, Remy Delage, 2015-12-22 The Muslim shrine is at the crossroad of many processes involving society and culture It is the place where a saint often a Sufi is buried and it works as a main social factor with the power of integrating or rejecting people and groups and as a mirror reflecting the intricacies of a society The book discusses the role of popular Islam in structuring individual and collective identities in contemporary South Asia It identifies similarities and differences between the worship of saints and the pattern of religious attendance to tombs and mausoleums in South Asian Sufism and Shi'ism Inspired by new advances in the field of ritual and pilgrimage studies the book demonstrates that religious gatherings are spaces of negotiation and redefinitions of religious identity and of the notion of sainthood Drawing from a large corpus of vernacular and colonial sources as well as the register of popular literature and ethnographic observation the authors describe how religious identities are co-constructed through the management of rituals and are constantly renegotiated through discourses and religious practices By enabling students researchers and academics to critically understand the complexity of religious places within the world of popular and devotional Islam this geographical re-mapping of Muslim religious gatherings in contemporary South Asia contributes to a new understanding of South Asian and Islamic Studies International Christian Literature Documentation Project Douglas W. Geyer, 1993 Asian Folklore Studies, 2004 The Bulletin of the Henry Martyn Institute of Islamic Studies, 1996 Bulletin of the Ramakrishna Mission Institute of Culture Ramakrishna Mission. Institute of Culture, 1998 Wild Goddesses in India and Nepal Axel Michaels, Cornelia Vogelsanger, Annette Wilke, 1996 She kills and destroys She causes illness and disaster The wild goddess evokes fear and terror People worship her with blood sacrifices and alcohol in order to appease her rage but also in order to participate in her power for she is at once a force of destruction and a force of regeneration of life and of sexuality Her creative violence reflects the ambivalent power of nature The idea of frightening goddesses is preserved in regionally different forms throughout South Asia The Institute for the Science of Religions University of Berne and the Museum of Anthropology of the University of Zurich coordinated a symposium on wild goddesses in India and Nepal The papers and reports on ongoing research presented at this symposium are published in this volume
