Noam, 2012-12-06 The Construction of the Self Susan Harter, 2012-03-06 An important work from a leading scholar this book explores self development from early childhood to adulthood Susan Harter traces the normative stages that define the emergence of many self processes including self esteem Restructured and significantly revised the second edition reflects over a decade of conceptual empirical and methodological advances It provides a broader sociocultural framework for understanding self development and gives increased attention to the liabilities of our contemporary preoccupation with the self Initial chapters describe how children adolescents and emerging adults assess their own competencies and overall worth and form a core enduring sense of self Harter examines the ways in which self evaluative judgments at distinct developmental stages are shaped by both individual differences and societal influences She shows that increasingly mature features of the self pose both benefits and risks for psychological adjustment Subsequent chapters delve into particular characteristics and contexts of the self Compelling topics include the links between self esteem and physical appearance the nature and functions of self conscious emotions with expanded coverage of humiliation self processes and motivation in the classroom and cross cultural research Throughout the book highlights the causes and consequences of different types of self representations including those that are unrealistically negative or positive The integrative concluding chapter focuses on the ubiquity of false self behavior particularly narcissism in today s society identifying promising pathways for promoting authentic self worth Combining state of the art theory and research with rich clinical insights this authoritative volume will be read with interest by developmental personality social and educational psychologists as well as child clinical psychologists and other mental health professionals The Real Self James F. Masterson, M.D., 2013-08-21 First Published in 1985 This informative volume examines the clinical research linking normal separation individuation with object relations theory and developmental psychopathology It focuses on the core problem the lack of a concept of the self integrated with object relations theory By adding a theory of the self to object relations theory the book both enlarges and more acutely focuses the therapeutic perspective thereby enhancing work with patients It also further enables therapists to clarify their own real selves Dr Masterson s thesis is that for the real self to finally emerge from the symbiotic union and assume its full capacities identification acknowledgment and support are required from the mother and father in early development and from the therapist in psychotherapy Dr Masterson describes and illustrates the therapeutic technique of communicative matching and provides the necessary acknowledgment while maintaining therapeutic neutrality Part I reviews psychoanalytic theory of the ego and the emerging real self its structure function development and its psychopathology and treatment Part II explores the relationship between maternal libidinal acknowledgment and the development of the real self by a cross cultural comparison of child raising in Japan Israel and the United States It then describes the influence of social and cultural factors on the functioning of the real self in the United States Part III on Creativity and the Real Self draws upon fairy tales Jean Paul Sartre Edvard Munch and the life and work of the novelist Thomas Wolfe to show how for some artists creativity becomes a crucial vehicle in their search to establish a real self This section illuminates the nature of personal and artistic creativity and describes how a professional interest in the functioning of the real self leads inevitably to an interest in the ultimate of self expression creativity Of special interest are the numerous case illustrations drawn from Masterson s extensive clinical work showing how acknowledgment and support enable the real self to fully emerge from the symbiotic union and to assume its full capacities
