Blues For A Prince:

Blues for the Prince Bart Spicer,1951 Catalog Sears, Roebuck and Company,1922 King Bhumibol Adulyadej Nicholas Grossman,Dominic Faulder,2012-04-20 King Bhumibol Adulyadej of Thailand is the world's longest reigning monarch. Indeed, his 65-year reign is one of the longest in world history, an achievement few would have predicted when the Thai king acceded the throne after the mysterious death of his brother in 1946. How did King Bhumibol revive the sinking fortunes of the Thai monarchy? Why has he become arguably the most revered king in Thai history? This illustrated biography tells that remarkable story. Beginning with an introduction explaining the unique history and traditions of the Thai monarchy, King Bhumibol Adulyadej: A Life's Work offers a fresh and insightful account of his life from his birth in America and education in Europe to his unexpected accession to the throne. Following him through the Cold War and Indochina War periods, the book shows how the king has used his position to help develop the country and its people while at the same time securing the status of the monarchy itself. King Bhumibol Adulyadej: A Life's Work also includes insightful chapters on the often misunderstood institutions that support the crown: the Crown Property Bureau and Privy Council, as well as essays on the controversial lese majeste law and the issue of succession.

Depictions of Home in African American Literature Trudier Harris,2021-12-06 In Depictions of Home in African American Literature Trudier Harris analyzes fictional homespaces in African American literature from those set in the time of slavery to modern urban configurations of the homespace. She argues that African American writers often inadvertently create and follow a tradition of portraying dysfunctional and physically or emotionally violent homespaces. Harris explores the roles race and religion play in the creation of homespaces and how geography, space, and character all influence these spaces. Although many characters in African American literature crave safe, happy homespaces and frequently carry such images with them through their mental or physical migrations, few characters experience the formation of healthy homespaces by the end of their journeys. Harris studies the historical, cultural, and literary portrayals of the home in works from well-known authors such as Richard Wright, James Baldwin, Toni Morrison, and August Wilson, as well as lesser-studied authors such as Daniel Black, A. J. Verdelle, Margaret Walker, and Dorothy West.

examines the first three decades of sound recording in the United States, charting the surprising roles black artists played in the period leading up to the Jazz Age and the remarkably wide range of black music and culture they preserved. Drawing on more than thirty years of scholarship, Tim Brooks identifies key black recording artists and profiles forty audio pioneers.

Brooks assesses the careers and recordings of George W Johnson Bert Williams George Walker Noble Sissle Eubie Blake the Fisk Jubilee Singers W C Handy James Reese Europe Wilbur Sweatman Harry T Burleigh Roland Hayes Booker T Washington and boxing champion Jack Johnson plus a host of lesser known voices Many of these pioneers struggled to be heard in an era of rampant discrimination Their stories detail the forces black and white that gradually allowed African Americans to enter the mainstream entertainment industry Lost Sounds includes Brooks s selected discography of CD reissues and an appendix by Dick Spottswood describing early recordings by black artists in the Caribbean and South America
