An Introduction to Women's Studies Inderpal Grewal, Caren Kaplan, 2002 This anthology for first and second year students introduces them to the history of key ideas in the modern period related to sexual difference gender race class and sexuality While most introductory Women's Studies textbooks focus on the United States even if they add multiculturalism to the discussion this book looks at the history of important differences between women in diverse locations around the world and continually challenges students to think through the issues that are raised This transnational approach to understanding gender brings Women's Studies into an era of globalization and connects women's issues in the United States to women's issues elsewhere The book shows how colonialism and imperialism as they spread across the world shaped ideas about gender as much as other modern phenomena It addresses issues of power and inequalities and focuses on links and connections rather than commonalities The readings are truly interdisciplinary drawing upon scholarly work in many disciplines and interdisciplinary fields as well as non scholarly sources

Computers and Society--impact! David O. Arnold, 1991 This text is designed for Computer Literacy or Computers and Society courses taught in computer science or sociology departments Its goal is to prepare students to make educated choices about the use of computer technology It emphasizes the blending of implications with applications of computers in business government and society and should enable students to make educated personal decisions on the use of computers
