Cohesion Policy And European Integration Building Multi Level Governance:

Cohesion Policy and European Integration Liesbet Hooghe, 1996 How can one convince potent nation states to put their sovereignty at risk in common European policies EU cohesion policy now one third of the EU budget provides such a puzzle Until 1988 the European Commission shared out money to national governments with few strings attached Since the reform of 1988 national governments are required to negotiate with the Commission and regional authorities on how to use the money Has this European wide policy eroded national sovereignty in favour of a stronger role for the Commission and more power for Europe s regions The first part of the book probes into the policy dynamics at the European level In the second part eight country studies evaluate the impact of uniform EU policy on territorial relations by comparing policy making before and after the reform The concluding section explains persistent variation in EU cohesion decision making and implementation

Cohesion Policy and European Integration Liesbet Hooghe, 1996 Cohesion Policy and European Integration Liesbet Hooghe, 1996 This work is a sustained study of cohesion policy in the European Union which now absorbs one third of the EU budget The central question is how policy makers can develop a common European policy and yet give attention to the variation in practice institutions and players in the member states

Multi-Level Governance and European Integration Liesbet Hooghe, Gary Marks, 2002-05-30 European politics has been reshaped in recent decades by a dual process of centralization and decentralization At the same time that authority in many policy areas has shifted to the supranational level of the European Union so national governments have given subnational regions within countries more say over the lives of their citizens At the forefront of scholars who characterize this dual process as Omulti level governance OLiesbet Hooghe and Gary Marks argue that its emergence in the second half of the twentieth century is a watershed in the political development of Europe Hooghe and Marks explain why multi level governance has taken place and how it shapes conflict in national and European political arenas Drawing on a rich body of original research the book is at the same time written in a clear and accessible style for undergraduates and non experts

The SAGE Handbook of European Union Politics Knud Erik Jørgensen, Mark Pollack, Ben Rosamond, 2007-01-03 This volume is one to which anyone trying to make sense of the EU of the early 21st century will return again and again A terrific line up that combines diverse talents from North America and Europe Few books of this kind could live up to the billing definitive benchmark but this one certainly does John Peterson University of Edinburgh A most useful book that can be highly recommended A strong analytical framework coupled with unparalleled coverage of the major issues of the political science research of the EU makes this volume a formidable tool for teaching and a significant input to new scholarly research It is both relatively sophisticated and very accessible to graduate students and advanced researchers The clear writing style and the richness of information presented will certainly make this book interesting for non academic readers Igor Vidacak Institute for International Relations Zagreb Journal of Common Market Studies An admirably comprehensive source book for those interested in how the tools of political science inspire EU area studies The editors enlist leading researchers to synthesize the state of the art in their field of expertise The Handbook of European Union Politics will be an indispensable intellectual resource for researchers teachers and graduate students of the European Union Liesbet Hooghe University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill USA Presents an excellent overview of political science research on the EU It finds the right balance between establishing the state of the art and pointing the reader to theoretical diversity Highly recommended for advanced students and scholars looking for quick and solid orientation in a fragmented field and for new ideas for research Frank Schimmelfennig ETH Zurich Switzerland This is a milestone in the study of EU politics The authors include the most knowledgeable practitioners in the field and collectively they provide a comprehensive and highly competent overview of the state of theory and research on EU institutions politics and policies Fritz Scharpf Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies Germany The European Union EU poses quite profound questions for scholars and students of the social and political sciences This benchmark handbook is designed to provide an authoritative state of the art guide to the scope of the field suitable for both established scholars and students of the EU reflect and contribute to the debates about the nature of the field of EU studies and EU politics in particular explore in detail the development of the many approaches to the study of EU politics Divided into four sections the Handbook focuses on theorizing European integration the EU as polity politics and policy making in the EU and the EU and the international system Its appeal will reside not only in its comprehensive and authoritative coverage of the field but also in the quality of its contributors and the diversity of theoretical and methodological approaches included The resulting volume is a must have for all scholars and advanced students of the EU and European integration The Oxford Handbook of the European Union Erik Jones, Anand Menon, 2012-08-30 This is an authoritative one volume and independent treatment of the history functioning and nature of the European integration Written by a selection of leading scholars It covers the major institutions policies and events in the history of integration whilst also providing a guide to the major theoretical approaches that have been used to study it over time By bringing together such a distinguished cast covering such a wide array of themes the Handbook is intended as a one stop shop for all those interested in the European Union and its predecessors Written in an accessible style the volume is intended to shape the discipline of EU studies and to establish itself as the essential point of reference for all those interested in European integration both in universities and more broadly It represents a timely guide to an institution that is much discussed but often only imperfectly understood The European Union and South East Europe Andrew Geddes, Charles Lees, Andrew Taylor, 2013-05-02 This book explores the interaction of the EU in Greece Slovenia Croatia and Macedonia in three key policy sectors cohesion border managements and the environment and assesses the degree to which the European Union's engagement with the democracies of South East Europe has promoted Europeanization and Multi Level Governance Although there is a tendency to view the Balkans as peripheral this book argues that South East European states are central to what the EU is and aspires to become and goes to the heart of many of the key issues confronting the EU It compares changing modes of governance in the three policy areas selected because they are contentious issues in domestic politics and have trans boundary policy consequences in which there is significant EU involvement The book draws on over 100 interviews conducted to explore actor motivation preferences and perceptions in the face of pressure to adapt from the EU and uses Social Network Analysis Timely and informative this book considers broader dilemmas of integration and enlargement at a time when the EU s effectiveness is under close scrutiny The European Union and South East Europe will be of interest to students and scholars of European politics public policy and European Union governance and integration Handbook of European Policies Hubert Heinelt, Sybille Münch, 2018-01-26 This definitive Handbook addresses the current lack of research into European policymaking and development using an interpretive perspective Questioning areas that mainstream approaches tend to neglect contributors target the ways in which ideas arguments and discourses shape policies in the institutional context of the EU Palgrave Advances in European Union Studies A. Bourne, M. Cini, 2005-10-31 Palgrave Advances in European Union Studies breaks new ground in offering advanced readers an insight into the state of the discipline in EU studies It comprises theoretical and empirical essays which deal with how the European Union has been and continues to be studied providing an invaluable tool for academics post graduate students and advanced undergraduates who are keen to understand this increasingly diverse field of study

Multi-level Governance and Institutional Change Enrico Gualini, 2004 By examining Italian policies and patterns of state local relationships this book analyzes the impact of reform of EU regional and cohesion policies Providing a contextual overview of European policy integration it focuses on how the development of transnational policy making affect the relationships between nation state and supra national institutions In doing so it questions traditional assumptions of territorial sovereignty and introduces new factors of policy reform and institutional change New Modes of Governance and the EU Structural and Cohesion Policy in the New Member States Kálmán Dezséri, 2007 This book looks at policy steering modes in other words governance of one particular Community policy area namely structural cohesion policy The study analyzes the governance modes of this policy at the European Union EU level and its implementation in eight new member states putting special emphasis on the usage of new modes of governance in this policy field In the broad sense the term new modes of governance is understood as a range of innovations and transformations that have occurred and continue to in the instruments methods modes and systems of governance New approach to governance involves such concepts as a web of non hierarchical relations between actors voluntary consensus building the application of soft measures and more flexibility in implementation This new approach has increased in importance in the EU during the last ten years i e the Amsterdam Treaty the Lisbon agenda and the European Commission s White Paper on Governance Within Europe

Governance through Europeanisation of Regional Administration? - A Network Analysis of Baden-Württemberg s European Strategy Stefan Seidendorf, 2002-10-17 Thesis M A from the year 2001 in the subject

Politics Topic European Union grade 17 20 excellent College of Europe Department of Politics language English abstract
Abstract This paper investigates on the regions in Europe It focuses on the role of the Brussels Office and takes an empirical approach via two case studies The first chapter deals with theoretical considerations The nature and definition of policy networks are introduced by the models of Rhodes and Marsh The importance of dependency of the different networking actors on each other is illustrated To assess an actor within the network one has to understand the extent to which he can control and mobilize resources However limits of this approach concentration on participants not on influence are shown Secondly the implications of globalisation and europeanisation for the regions are shown The new complexity makes the region deal directly with the European level Within this multi level governance the mobilisation of regional resources is crucial Civil society plays an important part The question if these changes towards europeanisation of the administration are new governance is raised The limits of this concept are assessed When governance means steering processes rather than controlling territory this may well occur in networks The question nevertheless of the legitimacy of these networks remains Thirdly the role of the Regional Office is presented with the historic reasons for its establishment and the evolution of its role A distinction between the Early Warning Function and the Platform Function is made The first case concerns the gathering of information on Commission proposals and the way to deal with these informations The project of a regional European human resources strategy is evoked In building up a Euro pool the region creates the necessary human resources to send experts into the Commission as well as having the opportunity to take Europe home To be present as a state actor on the European scene the region needs a platform provided by the regional office One promising way is the added value of transnational interest coalitions Accordingly the two case studies belong one to the field of Early Warning another one to the region as a European actor With consideration of the project of Beate Kohler Koch the specific features of the Baden W rtemberg Network are presented and two appropriate cases defined

EU Cohesion Policy After Enlargement Michael Baun, Dan Marek, 2008-10-31 This book presents the first major comparative study of EU Cohesion policy after the May 2004 enlargement and the 2006 Cohesion policy reform Using a balanced selection of case studies from both old and new member states it examines the implementation of EU Cohesion policy in an enlarged and increasingly differentiated Europe

Multi-level Governance in the European Union Thomas Conzelmann, 2008 In recent years the debate on the future institutional shape of the European Union has centred on the Constitutional Treaty and the Lisbon Treaty as its less ambitious but possibly equally abortive successor The debate has thus neglected the emergence of a wide variety of new and multi level forms of governing The present volume takes stock of these debates and asks critical questions about policy conflicts and the effectiveness and legitimacy of these forms of governance Under what conditions can they stand up to the high expectations that are put in them by their supporters The volume offers reflections on the notion of network governance Multi Level Governance and the difficult issue of democratic accountability as well as empirical case studies from the structural funds area as well as from environmental policy broadly conceived Does EU Regional Policy have a future and will Latvia be able to benefit from it? Chris Breuer, 2004-12-15 Master's Thesis from the year 2004 in the subject Politics Topic European Union grade 2.0 B University of Münster 48 language English abstract In this thesis I took a closer look at the second largest and most flexible policy field of the EU Regional Policy At present there are debates about the future of EU Regional Policy closely linked to the current debate about the EU budget for the planning period 2007-2013 for it is this budget that sets the boundaries for the financial resources of EU Regional Policy I assume that the future of the EU its acceptance within the community and its legitimacy by the community is dependent on the outcome of this ongoing debates and the future of regional policy By analysing the developments and the ongoing debates concerning EU Regional Policy so far I give prospects for the future of the EU in general and EU Regional Policy in particular The eastern enlargement is highly influencing regional policy and will result in a financial shift from west to east I used Latvia as a case study to show in what way concrete structures of a post Soviet state are being influenced and developed In order to investigate and do the appropriate research concerning my case study I lived in Riga the capital and political Walhalla of Latvia for half a year By being there and participating in seminars and congresses and by carrying out a project with a main focus to bridge the information gap between local Latvian authorities and the EU I got a good overview how the different governmental officials but the normal people as well judge the EU and EU Regional Policy in particular I learned that regional policy is extremely subject to the spectators view The judgement of EU Regional Policy depends on different political social and moral argumentations That the angle on how to look at the topic is very different seems obvious Let's take a Latvian mayor who is also part time farmer as an example Although he is interested in EU support he is barely able to fulfil the administrative and material conditions necessary to be eligible for EU support His Dutch colleague on the other hand is concerned about the financing of his relatively efficient local administration and he might judge financial support to weaker EU regions as competition This example shows the different starting points The decision making process shows similar disparities At the moment there is a clear gap between net contributors and net beneficiaries within the Union They have not come to a compromise concerning EU Regional Policy and the budget yet Regional Institutions and Governance in the European Union José María Magone, 2003-08-30 Highlights some of the problems involved in the integration of regional national and supranational levels of governance in the European Union Globalisation, Regionalisation and National Policy Systems, 2006 International Relations of the European Union Wyn Rees, Michael Smith, 2008-07-15 This SLIR set will reflect the breadth of the EU's international activities trade security defence diplomacy etc in addition to covering the history of the EU's external relations The EU is a particularly vibrant area of study as well as a major case study for students of International Relations Journal of European Integration, 2007 Policy-making in the European Union Helen S. Wallace, William Wallace, 2000 This new edition of the established standard text on policy making in the European Union has been extensively updated and rewritten to take into account all the most important recent developments in EU affairs. The new edition is even more comprehensive than its predecessor. It now includes 15 case studies of European Union policy making in a range of different fields. In addition, there are updated introductory chapters on EU institutions and policy processes and a new chapter explaining the various theoretical approaches to the making of policy in the EU. Major recent developments examined include the move to a single European currency, the expansion of common activities in justice and home affairs, recent initiatives to strengthen common foreign and security policy, negotiations on eastern enlargement, and efforts to reform the Common Agricultural Policy. Core policy fields covered include budgetary policy, trade, competition, and the Single Market. Case studies of environmental policy, social policy, and north-south relations illustrate the range and diversity of EU policy making. Two entirely new case studies examine the common fisheries policy and the struggle to develop a common approach to biotechnology. The expert contributors come from six EU member states and from the US.
