Dark A Novel:

Dark Kenji Jasper, 2001-06-12 All of them are looking for answers but it is Thai who must find his own path out of the dark and into the clear light of moral responsibility and repentance for his actions BOOK JACKET Echoes in the Dark Sun Chi Okereke, 1990 Middlebrow Modernism Melinda J. Cooper, 2022-10-01 Eleanor Dark 1901-85 is one of Australia's most innovative 20th century writers. Her extensive oeuvre includes ten novels published from the early 1930s to the late 1950s and represents a significant engagement with global modernity from a unique position within settler culture. Yet Dark's contribution to 20th century literature has been undervalued in the fields of both Australian literary studies and world literature. Although two biographies have been written about her life, there has been no book-length critical study of her writing published since 1976. Middlebrow Modernism counters this neglect by providing the first full-length critical survey of Eleanor Dark's writing to be published in over four decades. Focusing on the fiction that Dark produced during the interwar years and reading this in the context of her larger body of work, this book positions Dark's writing as important to the study of Australian literature and global modernism. Melinda Cooper argues that Dark's fiction exhibits a distinctive aesthetic of middlebrow modernism which blends attributes of literary modernism with popular fiction. It seeks to mediate and reconcile apparent binaries: modernism and mass culture, liberal humanism and experimental aesthetics, settler society and international modernity. The term middlebrow modernism also captures the way Dark negotiated cosmopolitan commitments with more place-based attachments to nation and local community within the mid-20th century. Middlebrow Modernism posits that Dark's fiction and the broader phenomenon of Australian modernism offer essential case studies for larger debates operating within global modernist and world literature studies, providing perspectives these fields might otherwise miss.

Diary in the Dark Aki Grisham, 2015-12-20 There are things we're not meant to understand. It's the bread and butter of daily life that we turn a blind eye to, incongruent truths because they push out against our frame of reference, bending it out of shape and threatening to twist it into knots. We comfort ourselves with the faint hope that it's just a dream, just a story, just speckles of dust in the sun. We sometimes believe in God. We believe in nature, in the rotation of the Earth and the constant pulse of the tides. In biology, anatomy, and prayer. But there are cracks in the wood grain and a gap beneath reality's front door. Mash'rg the Maw whispers just outside the window, promising knowledge, passion, and above all else, an end. Jeremy thought the book was just a book. Beautiful, lonely, finding him even as it was found. Lizzie was confident in three things: death, gravity, and her younger brother. These three things couldn't, wouldn't fail. Andrew only knew that the sun would rise in the morning every morning, no matter how bleak and black the night had been. They were wrong. We are all wrong. Crowell's Handbook for Readers and Writers Henrietta Gerwig, 1925 The Literary Digest International Book Review Clifford Smyth, 1923 Time, Tide and History Brigid Rooney, Fiona Morrison, 2024-06-01 Time, Tide and History Eleanor Dark's Fiction is the first book-length edited collection of scholarly essays to treat the full span of Eleanor Dark's fiction, advancing a recent revival of critical and scholarly interest in Dark's writing This volume not only establishes a new view of Dark's fiction as a whole but also reflects on the ways in which her fiction speaks to our present moment in the context of a globally fraught post pandemic Anthropocene era Above all the revisiting of Dark's fiction is mandated by a desire to recognise the ways in which it anticipates vital debates in Australian literary and national culture today about settler colonialism and its legacies and with regard to the histories condition and status of Australia's First Nations people This volume interweaves varied topical themes from formal debates about modernism historical realism and melodrama to questions about modernity's time and space about gender and cultural difference and about the specifics of built and natural environments Time Tide and History intentionally loosens the conventions of literary scholarship by including other kinds of work alongside critical and scholarly readings a written dialogue between two contemporary historians about Dark's legacy and a biographical piece on the life and role of Eleanor Dark's husband Eric Payten Dark Bringing together the interwar fiction's feminist and modernist dimensions with the historical turn of The Timeless Land trilogy the essays in Time Tide and History collectively pursue ethical and political questions while teasing out the distinctive thematic formal and aesthetic features of Dark's fiction
