A Taste of Power Katharina Vester, 2015-10-02 A Taste of Power is an investigation of the crucial role culinary texts and practices played in the making of cultural identities and social hierarchies since the founding of the United States Nutritional advice and representations of food and eating including cookbooks literature magazines newspapers still life paintings television shows films and the internet have helped throughout American history to circulate normative claims about citizenship gender performance sexuality class privilege race and ethnicity while promising an increase in cultural capital and social mobility to those who comply with the prescribed norms The study examines culinary writing and practices as forces for the production of social order and at the same time as points of cultural resistance against hegemonic norms especially in shaping dominant ideas of nationalism gender and sexuality suggesting that eating right is a gateway to becoming an American a good citizen an ideal man or a perfect mother Cookbooks as a low prestige literary form became the largely unheralded vehicles for women to participate in nation building before they had access to the vote or public office for middle class authors to assert their class privileges for men to claim superiority over women even in the kitchen and for Lesbian authors to reinscribe themselves into the heteronormative economy of culinary culture The book engages in close reading of a wide variety of sources and genres to uncover the intersections of food politics and privilege in American culture Provided by publisher

Butch-Femme Sally Munt,Cherry Smyth,1998 Despite its evident significance in lesbian communities the designations of butch and femme have rarely been theorized or written about from a critical perspective For many lesbians butch and femme are expressive lived identities yet prevalent intellectual trends encourage us in the view that these are somehow provisional empty and artificial This book is an attempt to think creatively about hutch femme in a way which honors the intimacy of these identities hoping to articulate the closeness we hold to these evocative categories respecting the power they hold in lesbian cultures but also avoiding the cliched romanticization often endemic to their representation Far from being sentimentally unreflective the pieces in this collection also intend to offer up the mirror of estrangement so we can think about these categories in new ways combining the critical eye with affect All the essays in this collection communicate the complexity of butch femme without sacrificing the emotional integrity with which these identities are lived Many of the chapters take the form of traditional academic analyses but there are also contributions which choose the imaginative form written by performance artists or poets Good Housekeeping ,1997 Poultry, Garden and Home ,1917 Discover ,1990-07 Santé ,2002
