The Software Factory Challenge Herbert Weber,1997 The Eureka Software Factory project ESF was set up by a Group of European partners in 1987 Its objective was broadly to improve the large scale software production process by introducing an industrialised approach to have The Software Factory Challenge social organisational and technical aspects The project was set up under the pan European Eureka programme and it was funded by the partners together with their national governments This book is not a history of the ESF project but rather a presentation of its main ideas and achievements and an account of how the concepts pioneered by the project have become part of a general movement in both the industrial and academic domains In this movement the facility for the production use and maintenance of large scale computer artefacts the Software Factory is treated in a wide and organic way so as to include concepts such as business value and process improvement with the development of new technologies being driven by these new wide requirements This new approach is in contrast with a narrowly technological one in which individual tasks like programming are aided by machines but in which the production process as a whole is not supported The main body of the book is divided into four Parts Part I gives a short overview of the ESF project and its ideas and goes on to attempt to place the ESF work in the context of industry as a whole with reference to both producers and users of Information Technology systems Part II sets out to explain the technological basis of the Software Factory as seen by ESF and goes on to describe some experimental and pioneering implementations of Factory Support Environments and their constituents Part III is devoted to the most complete implementation of an ESF Factory Support Environment to date Kernel 2r This Section provides a highly detailed discussion of both design and implementation issues In Part IV addresses what deployment strategies are now available to continue the spread of these ideas in order to meet the goal of better software based systems i e systems which are safer more economical to build more easily changed and more useful than those that have been built up to now Finally a Glossary of Terms and a list of References is given Readers those who have a professional interest in Information Technology

Infrastructures for Virtual Enterprises Luis M. Camarinha-Matos, Hamideh Afsarmanesh, 2013-03-09 The area of virtual organizations and industrial virtual enterprises in particular is attracting a large and growing interest both in terms of the research and development and the implementation of new business practices An ever increasing number of international projects and national initiatives have been launched recently Most of the earlier efforts are focused on the development of supporting infrastructures although more and more initiatives now pursue the exploitation of this concept in business terms Being a recent research and development area and in spite of the mentioned interest there is a lack of a structured and comprehensive text that can be used as a reference source Most available literature is dispersed in several conference proceedings journals and book chapters This book represents an attempt towards such structured text Although the book was prepared in the framework of PRO VE 99 a working conference on infrastructures for virtual enterprises organized by the Esprit project PRODNET II and IFIP it has the goal of covering more generic VE requirements and addressing several other approaches and important aspects in this paradigm

On The Move to Meaningful Internet Systems 2003: CoopIS, DOA, and ODBASE Zahir Tari, Douglas C. Schmidt, 2003-10-25 missions in fact also treat an envisaged mutual impact among them As for the 2002 edition in Irvine the organizers wanted to stimulate this cross pollination with a program of shared famous keynote speakers this year we got Sycara ble Soley and Mylopoulos and encouraged multiple attendance by providing authors with free access to another conference or workshop of their choice We received an even larger number of submissions than last year for the three conferences 360 in total and the workshops 170 in total Not only can we therefore again claim a measurable success in attracting a representative volume of scientific papers but such a harvest allowed the program committees of course to compose a high quality cross section of worldwide research in the areas covered In spite of the increased number of submissions the Program Chairs of the three main conferences decided to accept only approximately the same number of papers for presentation and publication as in 2002 i e around 1 paper out of every 4 5 submitted For the workshops the acceptance rate was about 1 in 2 Also for this reason we decided to separate the proceedings into two volumes with their own titles and we are grateful to Springer Verlag for their collaboration in producing these two books The reviewing process by the respective program committees was very professional and each paper in the main conferences was reviewed by at least three referees
