An Empty Spoon:

An Empty Spoon Sunny Decker, 1973 An Empty Spoon ... Photographs by Tana Hoban Sunny DECKER, 1970 The magic wand in autism: home-based intervention AHMET KARACA, In the Crossfire John P. Spencer, 2012-08-16 As media reports declare crisis after crisis in public education Americans find themselves hotly debating educational inequalities that seem to violate their nation's ideals Why does success in school track so closely with race and socioeconomic status How to end these apparent achievement gaps In the Crossfire brings historical perspective to these debates by tracing the life and work of Marcus Foster an African American educator who struggled to reform urban schools in the 1960s and early 1970s As a teacher principal and superintendent first in his native Philadelphia and eventually in Oakland California Foster made success stories of urban schools and children whom others had dismissed as hopeless only to be assassinated in 1973 by the previously unknown Symbionese Liberation Army in a bizarre protest against an allegedly racist school system Foster's story encapsulates larger social changes in the decades after World War II the great black migration from South to North the civil rights movement the decline of American cities and the ever increasing emphasis on education as a ticket to success Well before the accountability agenda of the No Child Left Behind Act or the rise of charter schools Americans came into sharp conflict over urban educational failure with some blaming the schools and others pointing to conditions in homes and neighborhoods By focusing on an educator who worked in the trenches and had a reputation for bridging divisions In the Crossfire sheds new light on the continuing ideological debates over race poverty and achievement Foster charted a course between the extremes of demanding too little and expecting too much of schools as agents of opportunity in America He called for accountability not only from educators but also from families taxpayers and political and economic institutions His effort to mobilize multiple constituencies was a key to his success and a lesson for educators and policymakers who would take aim at achievement gaps without addressing the full range of school and nonschool factors that create them The National Teachers' Monthly, 1877 New Edition of the Babylonian Talmud Michael Levi Rodkinson, Isaac Mayer Wise, Godfrey Taubehaus, 1916 Poor Eaters Joel Macht, 2009-04-28 Finally a comprehensive guide has arrived for frustrated parents who have trouble feeding their children Dr Macht a respected educational psychologist has originated strategies that have achieved remarkable results in getting children to eat right Dr Macht cuts to the root of the dilemma and emphasizes the relationship between a child's total family environment and his eating disorder The individuality of each child is an important factor in assessing the most suitable approach for dealing with food refusal This valuable book constitutes a major breakthrough for parents physicians and educators alike It offers parents a hoped for reprieve from the battle that often takes place at the kitchen table But most of all it will change the lives of countless children who will finally learn to appreciate and enjoy the benefits of healthy eating Complete Works William Makepeace Thackeray, 1903 The adventures of Philip, vol.
