Class Of 1846:

The Class of 1846 John C. Waugh, 1999-06-01 No single group of men at West Point or possibly any academy has been so indelibly written into history as the class of 1846. The names are legendary: Thomas Stonewall Jackson, George B. McClellan, Ambrose Powell Hill, Darius Nash Couch, George Edward Pickett, Cadmus Marcellus Wilcox, and George Stoneman. The class fought in three wars, produced twenty generals, and left the nation a lasting legacy of bravery, brilliance, and bloodshed. This fascinating, remarkably intimate chronicle traces the lives of these unforgettable men: their training, their personalities, and the events in which they made their names and met their fates. Drawing on letters, diaries, and personal accounts, John C. Waugh has written a collective biography of masterful proportions as vivid and engrossing as fiction in its re-creation of these brilliant figures and their pivotal roles in American history.

The West Point Class of 1846 Charles River Editors, 2017-11-17 Profiles the Class of 1846's most famous cadets, including George McClellan, Stonewall Jackson, George Pickett, A. P. Hill, and others. Discusses the relationships between the cadets and their lives during and after West Point. Includes pictures of some of the cadets. Includes a Bibliography for further reading. Toiling up hill is not what it is cracked up to be. Cadet George B. McClellan: West Point has long been America's most famous military academy, but in the early 19th century it was a highly unimpressive school consisting of a few ugly buildings facing a desolate, barren parade ground. Established with just five officers and ten cadets of the Corps of Engineers on March 16, 1802, the Academy was built on a spot just 50 miles north of New York City, which had been a key Hudson River military fortress during the Revolutionary War. Cadets attending during the Point's first several decades were obliged to maintain their daily regimen, knowing the school might shut down at any moment as the U.S. government frequently questioned why it should provide free education. As it turned out, West Point would become the foremost military academy in the nation, and it would churn out the cadets who became the most important generals in the Civil War. With that, the future generals' years at West Point became a source of both camaraderie and colorful stories. A clerical error by West Point administrators ensured that Hiram Ulysses Grant forever became known as Ulysses S. Grant, and years after Robert E. Lee met Albert Sidney Johnston and Jefferson Davis at West Point, George H. Thomas and William Tecumseh Sherman met each other, and Richard S. Ewell

During the 1850s classes included men like John Bell Hood Union general Phil Sheridan and James Birdseye McPherson who would become the only commanding general of a Union army to die in a Civil War battle when he fell in 1864 during Sherman's Atlanta Campaign But none of the West Point classes became as famous as the Class of 1846 which boasted more than a dozen future Civil War generals The Class of 1846 included a shy kid named Thomas Jonathan Jackson who made few friends and struggled with his studies finishing 17th in his class 15 years before becoming Stonewall Also in that class was A P Hill who was already in love with the future wife of George McClellan a young prodigy who finished second in the class of 1846 A popular and mischievous George Pickett would play hooky at the local bar and struggle just to finish last in the class and the Class of 1846 also churned out critical Union generals like Jesse Reno Darius Couch and George Stoneman Before these men opposed each other on Civil War battlefields they forged their own friendships and charted their future paths together at West Point The West Point Class of 1846 profiles the most famous cadets of the class chronicles their time on campus together and discusses their careers after the Academy Along with pictures of important people and places you will learn about the Class of 1846 like you never have before in no time at all

The Legends of the West Point Class of 1846 Charles River Editors, 2025-06-21

Thomas Jonathan Jackson is one of the most famous generals of the Civil War but many of the people he continues to fascinate probably don't remember his whole name. That's because Jackson earned his famous Stonewall moniker at the First Battle of Manassas or Bull Run when Brigadier General Bee told his brigade to rally behind Jackson whose men were standing like a stone wall. Ironically, it's still unclear whether that was a compliment for standing strong or an insult for not moving his brigade, but the nickname stuck for the brigade and the general himself. Jackson would only enhance his legend over the next two years, first leading his army on one of the most incredible campaigns of the war in the Shenandoah Valley in 1862. Known as the Valley Campaign, Jackson kept 3 Union armies occupied north of Richmond with less than 1/3 of the men marching his army up and down the Valley 650 miles in three months. The impressive feat helped his men earn the nickname foot cavalry. He is equally known for his famous flank march and attack at Chancellorsville on May 2, 1863, which completely surprised the Army of the Potomac's XI Corps and rolled the Union line up. The attack would end up winning the battle for the Confederates who were outnumbered by nearly 50,000 men at Chancellorsville. As fate would have it, Jackson was mortally wounded at the height of what may have been his finest hour, depriving the Confederacy of one of its best generals. Many still wonder how the outcome of Gettysburg or the Civil War itself may have changed if Jackson had lived. In 1861, McClellan was looked upon as a hero and even possibly a savior Dubbed The Young Napoleon the 35 year old had been a prodigy at West Point finishing in second place in the Academy's most famous class the Class of 1846 After earning praise for his service in the Mexican American War McClellan had a short but successful career in the railroad industry and had been a foreign observer at the siege of Sevastopol during the Crimean War At the outbreak of the Civil War there was no question that McClellan was one of the brightest and most experienced of the North's generals Ultimately of course McClellan went from hero to goat at least in the eyes of President Lincoln who famously wrote that McClellan has the slows It was a sharp critique of McClellan's cautious movements but McClellan was also faulted for conservative battlefield leadership in the Peninsula Campaign and at Antietam McClellan also constantly overestimated his opponent's manpower at times thinking the Confederates had double his Army of the Potomac when the exact opposite was the case It was after Antietam and his bickering with the War Department over why he wasn't chasing Lee's battered Army of Northern Virginia that Lincoln finally sacked him effectively ending his Civil War career Pickett's reputation for bravery extended into the early years of the Civil War to the extent that former West Point classmate George McClellan wrote Perhaps there is no doubt that he was the best infantry soldier developed on either side during the Civil War A native Virginian the impeccably styled Pickett represented all of the antebellum South's most cherished traits and as such he was a beau ideal Confederate soldier After proving himself a capable brigadier during the Peninsula Campaign during which he was wounded and forced to recuperate Pickett was given command of a division in Longstreet's corps of the Confederate Army of Northern Virginia putting him in position for a rendezvous with destiny Today Pickett is best remembered for the charge that has taken his name and is now remembered as the most famous assault of the Civil War Pickett's division was so decimated by the charge that when Lee asked him to reform his division in case of a Union counterattack Pickett is alleged to have responded I have no division
