BISHOP,2018 Second Sight Explained Washington Irving Bishop,2017-09-17 Excerpt from Second Sight Explained A Complete Exposition of Clairvoyance or Second Sight as Exhibited by the Late Robert Houdin and Robert Heller Showing How the Supposed Phenomena May Be Produced Words can be rapidly repeated without the slightest effort of memory These strings of words are what we may call natural associations They would be useful in recollecting a discourse which it was desired to keep in mind under circumstances where note taking was inadmissible They are natural evolutions in the process of thought which is evoked by a well reasoned discourse But we want in the case of the Clairvoyant to associate things that differ that are not natural and therefore are not evoked one from the other We therefore must find an association connecting two unconnected ideas and if we have a brooch on one person to be associated with a yellow ower on another we Should have some other process of connecting the two things than simply repeating one after the other in the manner of parrot talking or schoolboy repetition But this can easily be arranged Professors of mnemonics associate by the inter position of one word as a connecting link two ideas which they desire to connect as for instance Death and Abyssinia might be associated with War between them each of which would be recalled instantly by the repetition of the one word About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Second Sight Explained Frederick 1840-1910 Wicks, Washington Irving 1856-1889 Bishop, 2021-09-09 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public To ensure a quality reading experience this work has been proofread and republished using a format that seamlessly blends the original graphical elements with text in an easy to read typeface We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Second Sight Sepharial, 1996 Second Sight Sepharial, 2020-08-24 It would perhaps be premature to make any definite pronouncement as to the scientific position in regard to the psychic phenomenon known as scrying and certainly presumptuous on my part to cite an authority from among the many who have examined this subject since all are not agreed upon the nature and source of the observed phenomena Their names are moreover already identified with modern scientific research and theory so that to associate them with experimental psychology would be to lend colour to the idea that modern science has recognized this branch of knowledge Nothing perhaps is further from the fact and while it cannot in any way be regarded as derogatory to the highest scientist to be associated with others of less scientific attainment but of equal integrity in this comparatively new field of enquiry it may lead to popular error to institute a connection It is still fresh in the mind how the Darwinian hypothesis was utterly misconceived by the popular mind the suggestion that man was descended from the apes being generally quoted as a correct expression of Darwin's theory whereas he never suggested any such thing but that man and the apes had a common ancestor which makes of the ape rather a degenerate lemur than a human ancestor Second Sight: A study of Natural and Induced Clairvoyance Sepharial, 2019-12-12 In Second Sight A Study of Natural and Induced Clairvoyance Sepharial embarks on a meticulous exploration of the phenomena surrounding clairvoyance artfully blending personal anecdotes and anecdotal evidence with meticulous research The book presents a comprehensive analysis of both natural and induced states of clairvoyance underpinned by a rich literary style that traverses the realms of the mystical and the empirical Drawing from historical texts spiritual doctrines and contemporary experiences Sepharial situates clairvoyance within the broader contexts of psychology occult studies and metaphysical traditions making it a compelling treatise for both skeptics and believers alike Sepharial a profound figure in the early 20th century esoteric movement was deeply influenced by his diverse background in astrology mysticism and spiritualism His investigations into the psychic realms were motivated by an earnest desire to demystify phenomena often cast aside as mere superstition His scholarly yet accessible approach reflects a life dedicated to bridging the gap between the metaphysical and the scientific a pursuit that culminates in this seminal work Second Sight is highly recommended for seekers of knowledge in the fields of metaphysics psychology and spiritual consciousness It serves as both an academic resource and an exhilarating introduction to the intricacies of clairvoyance inviting readers to contemplate the boundaries of perception and reality

Second Sight in Daily Life W. H. W. Sabine, 2007-03

PREFACE THE Author of this very practical treatise on Scotch Loch Fishing desires clearly that it may be of use to all who had it He does not pretend to have written anything new but to have attempted to put what he has to say in as readable a form as possible Everything in the way of the history and habits of fish has been studiously avoided and technicalities have been used as sparingly as possible The writing of this book has afforded him pleasure in his leisure moments and that pleasure would be much increased if he knew that the perusal of it would create any bond of sympathy between himself and the angling community in general This section is interleaved with blank sheets for the readers notes The Author need hardly say that any suggestions addressed to the case of the publishers will meet with consideration in a future edition We do not pretend to write or enlarge upon a new subject Much has been said and written and well said and written too on the art of fishing but loch fishing has been rather looked upon as a second rate performance and to dispel this idea is one of the objects for which this present treatise has been written Far be it from us to say anything against fishing lawfully practised in any form but many pent up in our large towns will bear us out when we say that on the whole a days loch fishing is the most convenient One great matter is that the loch fisher is dependent on nothing but enough wind to curl the water and on a large loch it is very seldom that a dead calm prevails all day and can make his arrangements for a day weeks beforehand whereas the stream fisher is dependent for a good take on the state of the water and however pleasant and easy it may be for one living near the banks of a good trout stream or river it is quite another matter to arrange for a days river fishing if one is looking forward to a holiday at a date some weeks ahead Providence may favour the expectant angler with a good day and the water in order but experience has taught most of us that the good days are in the minority and that as is the case with our rapid running streams such as many of our northern streams are the water is either too large or too small unless as previously remarked you live near at hand and can catch it at its best A common belief in regard to loch fishing is that the tyro and the experienced angler have nearly the same chance in fishing the one from the stern and the other from the bow of the same boat Of all the absurd beliefs as to loch fishing this is one of the most absurd Try it Give the tyro either end of the boat he likes give him a cast of all flies he may fancy or even a cast similar to those which a crack may be using and if he catches one for every three the other has he may consider himself very lucky Of course there are lochs where the fish are not abundant and a beginner may come across as many as an older fisher but we speak of lochs where there are fish to be caught and where each has a fair chance Again it is said that the boatman has as much to do with catching trout in a loch as the angler Well we dont deny that In an untried loch it is necessary to have the guidance of a good boatman but the same argument holds good as to stream fishing

Natural and Induced Clairvoyance Sepharial Sepharial, 2019-02-20 In the following pages I have endeavoured to indicate the nature of the faculty of Second Sight or Clairvoyance the means of its development the use of suitable media or agents for this purpose and the kind of results that may be expected to follow a regulated effort in this direction I have also sought to show that the development of the psychic faculties may form an orderly step in the process of human unfoldment and perfectibility As far as the nature and scope of this little work will allow I have sought to treat the subject on a broad and general basis rather than pursue more particular and possibly more attractive scientific lines What I have here said is the result of a personal experience of some years in this and other forms of psychic development and experimentation
