The Jewish Novel in the Ancient World Lawrence M. Wills, 2015-03-11 Lawrence M Wills here traces the literary evolution of popular Jewish narratives written during the period 200 BCE 100 CE In many ways these narratives were similar to Greek and Roman novels of the same era as well as to popular novels of indigenous peoples within the Roman Empire Yet as a group they demonstrated a variety of novelistic innovations the inclusion of adventurous episodes passages of description and of dialogue concern with psychological motivation and the introduction of female characters Wills focuses on five novels Greek Esther Greek Daniel Judith Tobit and Joseph and Aseneth Drawing on a wide range of theoretical works he delineates the techniques and motifs of the Jewish novel shows how the genre both initiated and distanced itself from nonfictional prose such as historical and philosophical writing discusses its relation to Greco Roman romance and describes the social conditions governing its emergence and reception Wills also places the novels in historical context situating them between the Hebrew Bible on the one hand and subsequent developments in Jewish and Christian literature on the other Wills sees the Jewish novel as a popular form of writing that provided amusement for an expanding audience of Jewish entrepreneurs merchants and bureaucrats In an important sense he maintains it was a product of the novelistic impulse the impulse to transfer oral stories to a written medium to reach a more literate audience
