

HOW RED WINE IS MADE

WINE FOLLY

Harvest grapes

The weather conditions affect the harvest and it's important to harvest on time. Grapes are harvested and then processed in the winery to make wine.

Prepare grapes

Grapes are washed and then crushed. The juice is separated from the skins and seeds. The skins are left to ferment for a few days.

Clarification

Clarification is the process of removing any remaining solids from the wine. This is done by filtering the wine through a fine mesh.

Press

The grapes are crushed and the juice is separated from the skins and seeds. The juice is then filtered to remove any remaining solids.

Fermentation

The wine is fermented in a barrel for several days. The yeast converts the sugar in the juice into alcohol.

Add yeast

The yeast is added to the wine to start the fermentation process. The yeast converts the sugar in the juice into alcohol.

Bottling

The wine is bottled and sealed. The bottles are then stored in a cellar for several months.

Malolactic

Malolactic fermentation is a process where the malic acid in the wine is converted into lactic acid. This process gives the wine a smoother taste.

Aging

The wine is aged in barrels for several months. This process allows the wine to develop a more complex flavor.

Blending

The wine is blended with other wines to create a more balanced flavor. The blending process is done by the winemaker.

Bottle aging

The wine is aged in bottles for several months. This process allows the wine to develop a more complex flavor.
