

Image of the disk's far side

The black hole's gravitational field alters the path of light from the far side of the disk, producing this part of the image.

Photon ring

A ring of light composed of multiple distorted images of the disk. The light making up these images has orbited the black hole two, three or even more times before escaping to us. They become thinner and thinner closer to the black hole.

Black hole shadow

This is an area roughly twice the size of the event horizon — the black hole's point of no return — that is formed by its gravitational bending and capture of light rays.

Doppler beaming

Light from glowing gas in the accretion disk is brighter on the side where material is moving toward us, fainter on the side where it's moving away from us.

Accretion disk

The hot, thin, rotating disk formed by matter slowly spiraling toward the black hole.

Image of the disk's underside

Light rays from beneath the far side of the disk are gravitationally "bent" to produce this part of the image.
