

BLACK EROS is a study of the role of evolution in the life of the African people from the earliest times till the present day. Among the questions which the author discusses are these: What links exist between surviving rituals and those depicted in the prehistoric rock-paintings? What is the underlying significance of ritual costumes and signs? What is the connection between these rites and those of ancient Egypt? What are the basic reasons for the African search for colour? What is the connection between Black Eros and the world of magic?
