Blanche Fury:

Blanche Fury, Or, Fury's Ape Marjorie Bowen, 1939 Films and British National Identity Jeffrey Richards, 1997-09-15

This book seeks to examine the ways in which the cinema has defined mythified and disseminated British national identity during the course of the twentieth century. It takes the form of a series of linked essays which examine chronologically thematically and by specific case studies of films stars and genres the complexities and ambiguities in the process of evolution and definition of the national identity. It argues for the creation of a distinctive British national identity both in cinema and the wider culture. But it also assesses the creation of alternative identities both ethnic and regional and examines the interaction of cinema and other cultural forms music literature and television.

The Furies of Marjorie Bowen John C. Tibbetts, 2019-11-25. This first book length critical examination of the life and work of Marjorie Bowen 1885-1952 reveals a major English writer whose prodigious output included stories of history romance and the supernatural. As Pulitzer Prize winning critic Michael Dirda writes in his Foreword Bowen may be the finest British woman writer of the uncanny of the last century a view that echoes the high regard of cultural historian Edward Wagenknecht who called her a literary phenomenon one whose best work places her alongside such contemporaries as Edith Wharton and Daphne du Maurier. Publicly acclaimed known only by a series of pseudonyms including Marjorie Bowen but privately inscrutable she was and is a mysterious and complex character. Drawing for the first time upon archival resources and the cooperation of the Bowen Estate this book reveals a woman who saw herself as a rationalist and serious historian but also as a mystic and dark enchantress of dread. Above all through a lifetime of domestic storms and creative ecstasy Bowen worked tirelessly as both a professional writer and a consummate artist always seeking as she once confessed to find beauty in dark places.

Colour Films in Britain Sarah Street, 2019-07-25. How did the coming of colour change the British film industry? Unlike sound the arrival of colour did not revolutionise the industry overnight. For British film makers and enthusiasts colour was a controversial topic. While it was greeted by some as an exciting development with scope for developing a uniquely British aesthetic others were deeply concerned. How would audiences accustomed to seeing black and white films which were commonly regarded as being superior to their garish colour counterparts react? Yet despite this initial trepidation colour captivated many British inventors and film makers. Using different colour processes these innovators produced films that demonstrated remarkable experimentation and quality. Sarah Street's illuminating study is the first to trace the history of colour in British cinema and analyses the use of colour in a range of films both fiction and non-fiction including The Open Road, The Glorious Adventure, This is Colour, Blithe Spirit, This Happy Breed, Black Narcissus, The Red Shoes, The Tales of Hoffmann and Moulin Rouge. Beautifully illustrated with full colour film stills this important study provides fascinating insights into the complex process whereby the challenges and opportunities of new technologies are negotiated within creative practice. The book also includes a Technical Appendix by Simon Brown Kingston University UK which provides further details of the range of colour processes.
