Blacker The Berry:

The Blacker the Berry . . . Wallace Thurman, 2018-01-16 The groundbreaking Harlem Renaissance novel about prejudice within the black community Emma Lou Morgan's skin is black So black that it's a source of shame to her not only among the largely white community of her hometown of Boise Idaho but also among her lighter skinned family and friends Seeking a community where she will be accepted she leaves home at age eighteen traveling first to Los Angeles and then to New York City where in the Harlem of the 1920s she finds a vibrant scene of nightclubs and dance halls and parties and love affairs and still rejection by her own race One of the most widely read and controversial works of the Harlem Renaissance and the first novel to openly address prejudice among black Americans and the issue of colorism The Blacker the Berry is a book of undiminished power about the invidious role of skin color in American society For more than seventy years Penguin has been the leading publisher of classic literature in the English speaking world With more than 1 800 titles Penguin Classics represents a global bookshelf of the best works throughout history and across genres and disciplines Readers trust the series to provide authoritative texts enhanced by introductions and notes by distinguished scholars and contemporary authors as well as up to date translations by award winning translators

Dilution Anxiety and the Black Phallus Margo Natalie Crawford, 2008 After the Black is Beautiful movement of the 1960s black body politics have been overdetermined by both the familiar fetishism of light skin as well as the counter fetishism of dark skin Moving beyond the longstanding focus on the tragic mulatta and making room for the study of the fetishism of both light skinned and dark skinned blackness Margo Natalie Crawford analyzes depictions of colorism in the work of Gertrude Stein Wallace Thurman William Faulkner Black Arts poets James Baldwin Toni Morrison and John Edgar Wideman In Dilution Anxiety and the Black Phallus Crawford adds images of skin color dilution as a type of castration to the field of race and psychoanalysis An undercurrent of light skinned blackness as a type of castration emerges within an ongoing story about the feminizing of light skin and the masculinizing of dark skin Crawford confronts the web of beautified and eroticized brands and scars created by colorism crisscrossing race gender and sexuality The depiction of the horror of these aestheticized brands and scars begins in the white authored and black authored modernist literature examined in the first chapters A call for the end of the ongoing branding emerges with sheer force in the post Black movement novels examined in the final chapters

J. Thorold, Arthur Hornblow, Arthur Hornblow (Jr.), Perriton Maxwell, Stewart Beach, 1929 Masterplots II.: A-Dre Tyrone Williams, 2009 Williams Xavier U presents 367 three to four page essays, 101 commissioned new for this edition on significant African American works of literature from Afrocentricity. The Theory of Social Change, a work of cultural criticism by Molefi K Asante to Zami: A New Spelling of My Name, the biomythography of Audre Lorde. The works covered range from early colonial era writings through works of the beginning of the 21st century. Most of the essays address a single long work, while others review an author's work in a certain genre such as short fiction, poetry, essays, or speeches. Each entry begins with information on title, subtitle, author's name, and birth/death dates, type of work, date of first publication, and production. For fiction, information is also presented on type of plot, setting, and principal characters. The essays then describe events or contents of the work and address broad themes and meanings connected to the work. Essays on fiction works include discussion of main character or characters, while nonfiction work includes sections on form and content and analysis. All essays end with discussion of critical context. Also included with the essays are annotated bibliographies on secondary sources. The final volume includes indexes organized by type of work, title, and authors. Examples of works covered in addition to the two already mentioned include Ain't I a Woman by bell hooks, The Autobiography of Malcolm X, Babel 17 by Samuel R Delany, The Black Muslims in America by C Eric Lincoln, The Content of Our Character by Shelby Steele, Kindred by Octavia E Butler, Roots by Alex Haley, The Signifying Monkey by Henry Louis Gates, Up from Slavery by Booker T Washington, and Walkin' the Dog by Walter Mosley. It offers an enormous range of writers from Sojourner Truth to Frederick Douglass, from Zora Neale Hurston to Ralph Ellison, and from Toni Morrison to August Wilson. It contains entries on major works, including synopses of novels such as Harriet Jacobs's Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl, Richard Wright's Native Son, and Lorraine Hansberry's A Raisin in the Sun. It also incorporates information on literary characters such as Bigger Thomas, Coffin Ed Johnson, Kunta Kinte, Sula, Peace, as well as on character types such as Aunt Jemima, Brer Rabbit, John Henry.

Race, Work, and Family in the Lives of African Americans Marlese Durr,Shirley Ann Hill,2006 Sadly efforts to end racial segregation and discrimination have clearly not led to racial equality or a colorblind society Rather African Americans have become increasingly class polarized since the civil rights era as the persistent racialization of American society has perpetuated the wage gap between Blacks and Whites leading to increased rates of unemployment and underemployment among African Americans The significant minority of Black families historically headed by single mothers became a statistical majority during the twentieth century and the tension in the gender relations of Black men and women became a more prominent topic of debate This compelling and timely collection examines contemporary family and workforce patterns and how they are continuing to shape the quality of life for African Americans across the United States
