A Composition Of Consciousness Roads Of Reflection From Freire And Elbow:

A Composition of Consciousness Patricia H. Perry, 2000 The premise of this book is that teachers of writing will never make any significant strides in the teaching and learning of writing until pervasive inhibiting and misinformed views about writing are transformed in the consciousness of people from the home and classroom to the office and boardroom Dr Perry delves into the nature of consciousness the epistemologies of predominant teaching approaches and some heretofore undervalued phenomenological foundations and similarities between the pedagogies and praxes of Paulo Freire and Peter Elbow As a way to begin to address the continuing writing crisis Dr Perry proposes a teaching approach a composition of consciousness that targets and transforms inhibiting views about writing and promotes the creation of productive writing knowledge Paulo Freire Daniel Schugurensky, 2014-10-23 Paulo Freire is one of the most influential thinkers in education

This text is a thoughtful and thorough introduction to Freire's work situating this in the context of his life intellectual journey and the reception of his thinking around the world Daniel Schugurensky's text offers a coherent and accessible account of Freire's educational thought looking at its contribution to educational theory and practice and exploring the legacy of Freire for contemporary education and the relevance of his thought for today's students A Composition of Consciousness

Patricia H. Feminist Theory and Research Christina Hughes, 2002-09-12 This original and engaging text explores the core concepts in feminist theory This up to date text addresses the implications of postmodernism and post structuralism for feminist theorizing It identifies the challenges of this through the development of conceptual literacy Introducing conceptual literacy as a pedagogic task this text facilitates students understanding of for example The range and lack of fixity of conceptualizations and meanings of key terms The significance of theoretical framework for conceptualization of key terms The changing nature of language and the reframing of key terms in research eg the recent shift from equality to social justice The text explores these issues through six key concepts in feminist theorizing equality difference choice care time and experience Each chapter considers the varied ways in which these terms have been conceptualised and the feminist debates about these concepts Each chapter includes case studies to illustrate the application of these concepts in feminist empirical research and provides a guide to further reading This text will be an invaluable tool for students taking courses in feminist theory and research methods and students across the social sciences who are taking courses concerned with issues of gender

Writing at the Edge Jeff Park, 2005 In Writing at the Edge Jeff Park invites the reader to see personal writing as the metaphorical space where individuals negotiate meaning with others and the world Drawing upon writing process theory curriculum theory narrative theory and many years of practice this book explores writing in relation to the self but dares to include the multiplicities and contradictions of social and cultural constructions of gender power and politics Park uses the metaphor of the riparian zone to reconsider the value of writing as a site of negotiation of self culture and society This book is the best of curriculum theory and narrative inquiry as well as a stunning invitation to those working in language arts writing and teacher education to reconsider personal writing as a place of great diversity beauty and paradox Critical

Constructivism Primer Joe L. Kincheloe, 2005 The Critical Constructivism Primer introduces education students to the study of knowledge how it is inscribed by particular values and produced in problematic ways whose interests it serves and how it shapes the identities of those who consume it Critical constructivism is an epistemological position that examines the process by which knowledge is socially constructed Joe L Kincheloe takes readers through the basic concepts and alerts them to the dangers of objectivism reductionism and the pathological views of self and world that emerge if students and educators are unaware of the construction of knowledge by dominant power interests The book is essential reading for individuals who want to become researchers and educators Teachers as Researchers Joe L. Kincheloe, 2003 This book provides a critique of teachers work in a era marked by top down technical standards It urges teachers to engage in the debate on educational research by undertaking meaningful teacher research Writing With Elbow Pat Belanoff, 2002 Peter Elbow is one of those scholars who had such an impact on his field that by mid career he had already attained icon status As an early proponent of what became known as process theory Elbow with others working along similar lines developed a powerful body of theory that gradually reoriented instruction in writing toward an emphasis on invention and revision toward the process of writing as a mode of thinking and consequently toward a focus on the interaction between writer and audience instead of on the traditionally conceived product of writing the text Rhetoric and Resistance in the Corporate Academy

Christopher Carter, 2008 Rhetoric and Resistance in the Corporate Academy analyzes the political and legal struggles between labor movements and school administrators over the rise of part time and temporary jobs in higher education Focusing particular attention on the labor of writing instruction Carter finds among literacy workers both a deeply exploited segment of the campus population and a vector of resistance to the hegemony of flexible hiring Contrary to visions of ivory tower seclusion he traces continuities between teachers and students experiences as corporate employees contending that their frequently insecure positions inadequate working conditions minimal benefits and marginalized voices constitute grounds for political alliance Carter then outlines a labor theory of agency that entails long range collaboration among tenure line faculty part time and non tenure track teachers and student social movements listening always for harmonies as well as
