Petermann, Peter S. Harper, Susanne Doetz, 2017-05-10 Written by 30 authors from all over the world this book provides a unique overview of exciting discoveries and surprising developments in human genetics over the last 50 years The individual contributions based on seven international workshops on the history of human genetics cover a diverse range of topics including the early years of the discipline gene mapping and diagnostics Further they discuss the status quo of human genetics in different countries and highlight the value of genetic counseling as an important subfield of medical genetics

Twenty-two Years Stephen A. Richardson, Helene Koller, 1996 Twenty Two Years presents the results of a unique longitudinal study of the first 22 years in the lives of more than 200 young people with varying degrees of mental retardation By following their paths through available services job histories leisure activities friendships and marriages the authors provide objective information about the quality of life of young people with mental retardation The book makes a unique contribution by determining what factors in childhood predict who will and who will not require mental retardation services and for those who disappear from services why some fare better than others Most important the results help answer a question that haunts parents What will happen when my child grows up This study expands on an internationally acclaimed clinical and epidemiological study of children with mental retardation published in 1970 It provides prevalence rates by severity of mental retardation gender social class and family stability and shows how these change over time The authors confirm the central role of biomedical factors in the etiology of severe mental retardation For the etiology of mild mental retardation the book examines the relative contributions of biomedical and intergenerational genetic factors as well as psychosocial adversity The book should be of interest to a broad range of clinicians researchers and students as well as the families of people with mental retardation and it will serve as a model for future epidemiological and follow up research
