MASEFIELD,2018      Captain Margaret John Masefield,1974      Captain Margaret John Masefield,1909      Captain Margaret John Masefield,2017-10-15 Excerpt from Captain Margaret A Romance She had been a week In coming from the P001 to the Start In the week her crew had settled down from their last drunkenness The smuts had been washed from the fife rails the ropes upon the pins had lost the London grime from the lay of the strands Now as the sun rose behind the combs ooding the land with light smiting the water with gold the boy standing far aft ran up her colours and the boatswain in his blue boat cloak bending forward slightly blowing his smouldering match fired the sunrise gun raising his linstock In salute The sleepers stirred among their blankets one or two fully wakened raised themselves upon their elbows A block creaked as the peak lantern was hauled down Then with a shrill wail the pipe sounded the long double call slowly heightening to piercing sharpness which bids all hands arise About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works      Captain Margaret John Masefield,1929 A novel of adventure set in Devon Cornwall and the Spanish Main exploring the psyche of a very unattractive woman hunter      Captain Margaret John Masefield,1927      Captain Margaret John Masefield,1962      Captain Margaret, a Romance by John Masefield ... John Masefield,1908      Captain Margaret John Masefield, The short summer night was over the stars were paling there was a faint light above the hills The flame in the ship s lantern felt the day beginning A cock in the hen coop crowed flapping his wings The hour was full of mystery Though it was still it was full of the suggestion of noise There was a rustle a murmur a sense of preparation Already in the farms ashore the pails went clanking to the byres Very faintly from time to time one heard the lowing of a cow or the song of some fisherman as he put out in the twilight to his lobster pots sculling with one oar Dew had fallen during the night The decks of the Broken Heart lying at anchor there with the lantern burning at her peak were wet with dew Dew dripped from her running rigging the gleam of wetness was upon her guns upon her rails upon the bell in the poop belfry She seemed august lying there in the twilight Her sailors asleep on her deck in the shadow below the break of the quarter deck were unlike earthly sleepers The old boatswain in the blue boat cloak standing at the gangway watching the dawn was august sphinx like symbolic The two men who stood above him on the quarter deck spoke quietly in hushed voices as though the hour awed them Even the boy by the lantern far aft stood silently moved by the beauty of the time Over the water by Salcombe the fishers boats got under way for the sea The noise of the halliards creaked voices called in the dusk blocks piped coils of rope rattled on the planks The flower of the day was slowly opening in the east the rose of the day was bursting It was the dim time the holy time the moment of beauty which would soon pass was even now passing as the sea gleamed brightening lighting up into colour Slowly the light grew it came in rosy colour upon the ship it burned like a flame upon the spire top The fishers in their boats moving over the talking water watched the fabric as they passed She loomed large in the growing light she caught the light and gleamed the tide went by her with a gurgle The dim light made her larger than she was it gave her the beauty of all half seen things The dim light was like the veil upon a woman s face She was a small ship only five hundred tons built of aromatic cedar and like all wooden ships she would have looked ungainly had not her great beam and the height of her after works given her a majesty something of the royal look which all ships have in some proportion The virtue of man had been busy about her An artist s heart hungry for beauty had seen the idea of her in dream she had her counterpart in the kingdom of vision There was a spirit in her as there is in all things fashioned by the soul of man not a spirit of beauty not a spirit of strength but the spirit of her builder a Peruvian Spaniard She had the impress of her builder in her a mournful state a kind of battered grandeur a likeness to a type of manhood There was in her a beauty not quite achieved as though in the husk of the man the butterfly s wings were not quite free There was in her a strength that was clumsy almost the strength of one vehement from fear She came from a man s soul stamped with his defects Standing on her deck one could see the man laid bare melancholy noble and wanting till one felt pity for the ship which carried his image about the world Seamen had lived in her seamen had died in her she had housed many wandering spirits She was in herself the house of her maker s spirit as all made things are and wherever her sad beauty voyaged his image his living memory voyaged infinitely mournful because imperfect unapprehended Some of those who had sailed in her had noticed that the caryatides of the rails the caryatides of the quarter gallery and the figurehead which watched over the sea were all carven portraits of the one woman But of those who noticed none knew that they touched the bloody heart of a man that before them was the builder s secret the key to his soul The men who sailed in the Broken Heart were not given to thoughts about her builder When they lay in port among all the ships of the world among the flags and clamour they took no thought of beauty They would have laughed had a man told them that all that array of ships so proud so beautiful came from the brain of man because a woman s lips were red It is a proud thing to be a man and to feel the stir of beauty but it is more wonderful to be a woman and to have or to be the touch calling beauty into life

Captain Margaret John Masefield,2006-01-01 His style is crisp curt and vigorous He has the Stevensonian sea swagger the Stevensonian sense of beauty and poetic spirit Mr Masefield s descriptions ring true and his characters carry conviction The Observer The Annual American Catalog, 1908,1909 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art,1908 The Man Who Flew the Memphis Belle Robert Morgan,Ron Powers,2011-07-05 The riveting firsthand account of World War II pilot Robert Morgan his crew and the legendary Memphis Belle written with Ron Powers cowriter of the 1 New York Times bestseller Flags of Our Fathers A powerful chronicle of loyalty love and heroism under fire this is the unforgettable memoir of a member of the Greatest Generation who fought in America's greatest battles and of the war one man waged both in and out of the skies High spirited young Robert Morgan was transformed from a fast living privileged playboy who grew up hobnobbing with the Vanderbilts into a steel nerved pilot forged in the cauldron of World War II's most dangerous and desperate aerial encounters This is the triumphant tale of that transformation and of the airplane and crew that never failed to bring him back home The Nation, 1916 The Dial, 1909 Pirates! Jan Rogozinski, 1996-08-21 In more than a thousand entries this encyclopedia impeccably researched internationally focused and extensively cross referenced reveals the actual lives and exploits of pirates and the diverse worlds from which they sprang from the Etruscan and Phoenician marauders off the coast of ancient Greece to the Chinese and Malay pirates of the 1870s Pirates encompasses historical pirates like Madame Cheng I Sao Captain William Kidd Sir Walter Raleigh and Edward Blackbeard Teach fictional buccaneers like Anne Bonny Captain Blood and Long John Silver every important and noteworthy novel play poem ballad opera and movie portraying pirates pirate slang havens types of ships weapons symbols practices and pleasures a listing of the richest booty ever captured over a hundred illustrations with more than a dozen paintings by Howard Pyle and a comprehensive bibliography The Bookseller, 1908 A Guide to British Historical Fiction John Anthony Buckley, William Tom Williams, 1912 A Bibliography of John Masefield, 1930 Of this work seven hundred and fifty numbered and fifty unnumbered copies were printed from type by the Plimpton press of Morwood Massachusetts in October 1930 of which this is unnumbered copy
