Living in Words Garry L. Hagberg, 2023-05-16

Living in Words Literature Autobiographical Language and the Composition of Selfhood pursues three main questions What role does literature play in the constitution of a human being What is the connection between the language we see at work in imaginative fiction and the language we develop to describe ourselves And is something more powerful than just description at work that is does self descriptive or autobiographical language itself play an active role in shaping and solidifying our identities This adventurous book suggests that interdisciplinary work interweaving philosophy and literature can answer these questions Main sections investigate the relational model of the self derived from American pragmatism the sense of rightness that can attach to descriptions of ourselves and our actions the analogy between interpreting works of art and the interpretation of persons the special power of literature as a self compositional tool and the architecture of self narratives and the corresponding growth of self understanding what we can learn from cautionary tales concerning the tragic lack of self knowledge the possibility of rewriting and rereading the self and overall the assembly of real life structures of self definition through our reflective engagement with literature Throughout the book develops a model of active self constitutive literary reading that provides language for and sharpens self individuation and sensibility Conjoining a relational conception of selfhood to a narrative conception of self understanding Living in Words makes a powerful claim that aesthetic experience and our engagement with the arts is a far more serious matter in human life and society than it in some quarters is taken to be
