African Forms:

African Forms Marc Ginzberg, 2000 Traditional African forms were noticed, described and brought back to Europe as early as the statues and masks but none of the books on the subject covers the broad geographic and stylistic range adequately or presents these beautiful objects appropriately. This volume reaches into practically all of Africa and thus covers an area perhaps 50% greater than that of most books. Similarly, it is unique in treating a broad variety of articles, household objects and weapons, jewelry and textiles, musical instruments and devotional items. The coverage is extensive but the purpose is not to be encyclopedic; rather, it is to present a wide assortment of top quality utilitarian objects, beautifully photographed and to give sufficient background information, carefully researched but in a lively, readable format to enhance the enjoyment of this material as art. BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc. African forms : [album] Marc Ginzberg, Lynton Gardiner, 2000 African Forms Laure Meyer, 2001 Illuminates an aspect of African art that has largely been neglected by other books. African sculptures and art can be difficult to decipher because they are more than tokens of art for art's sake. African art is often based on religious and philosophical values. It is created not just for the patron but for the entire community using a language of form to help the society to understand what cannot otherwise be put into words. Through an enlightening analysis of some of the continent's most emblematic artifacts, this book decodes African art by putting it in the context of the broader culture. It is thematically organized around key motifs to help you fully understand African art. 150 colour illustrations African Forms Frank Herreman, 2001 South African Perspectives on Notions and Forms of Ecumenicity Ernst M. Conradie, 2013-12-01 South African Perspectives on Notions and Forms of Ecumenicity is the second in a series of publications on the interface between ecumenical theology and social transformation in the South African context. It explores the underlying tensions in the ecumenical movement from within the South African context by analysing various notions of what ecumenicity entails. It includes a leading essay by Ernst Conradie and 13 responses to the theme by experts in the field. Symbolic Narratives/African Cinema June Givanni, 2019-07-25 In the conference Africa and the History of Cinematic Ideas held in London in 1995, film makers, cultural theorists and critics gathered to debate a range of issues. Views were exchanged on such topics as imperialism and the problems of distribution. Journal of the African Society African Society, 1907 African Traditional Religion in the Modern World, 2d ed. Douglas E. Thomas, 2015-05-11 African traditional religion encompasses a variety of non-dogmatic spiritual practices followed by millions around the world. Some scholars argue it is related to the Nubian religion of Egypt's Dynastic Period. In an expanded second edition, this book examines the nature of African traditional religion and describes common attributes of various cultural belief systems with an emphasis on West Africa. Principal elements studied include sacrifice, salvation and culture, modes of revelation, divination and African resilience in the face of invasion and colonization. The religious experiences of black people throughout the Americas are also covered. The author finds the cosmology symbolism and rituals of the Yoruba culture to be the fundamental bases of African traditional religion and draws similarities between the oral and written literature of West Africans and that of New World practitioners The influence of Islam and Christianity is also discussed Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

Routledge Handbook of Critical African Heritage Studies Ashton Sinamai, John D. Giblin, Shadreck Chirikure, Ishanlo Odiava, 2024-09-06. This handbook is a foundational reference point for critical heritage research about Africa and its diaspora. Foregrounding the diversity of knowledge systems needed to examine heritage issues in such a diverse continent, the contributors to this volume argue for an understanding of heritage that is at once both natural and cultural, tangible and intangible, political and dissonant, going beyond the physical and objective to include subjective narratives, performances, rituals, memories, and emotions. It examines the pre-coloniality, coloniality, post-coloniality, and decoloniality of current African heritage discourses and their consequences, analyses how heritage legislation derived from colonial law is compatible or otherwise with how heritage is perceived, identified, and remembered in African communities, discusses questions of repatriation, restitution, and reparations in relation to the return of artefacts from Western countries, and illuminates the importance of difficult heritage within Africa and its diaspora. It considers the role of heritage for development in Africa. Making a crucial contribution to our understanding of African conceptions and practices of heritage, this book is an important read for scholars of African Studies, heritage and museum studies, archaeology, anthropology, and history.

Green, Stephen T. Pardue, K. K. Yeo, 2020-12-01. More Christians live in the Majority World than in Europe and North America. Yet most theological literature does not reflect the rising tide of Christian reflection coming from these regions. Bringing together theological resources from past and present East and West, this work engages conversations with leading global scholars on theology, faith, and mission for the enrichment of the entire church.
