Annette Froehlich

African Societies:

The Social Structure of Contemporary African Societies M. O. Shoremi, 2002 East African Societies Aylward Shorter, 2004 Focussing on the mechanics of social change and the interaction between ethnic groups cultures structures and value systems the background questions of ecology demography and history are also examined and the process of urbanization and rural revolution described Trends in marriage and family life education and religious ideas are also discussed and case studies from each country included First published in 1974 Strangers in African Societies Herschelle Challenor, Joint Committee on African Studies, 1979-01-01 Conference report comparison of the attitudes and reactions of African host countries to migrants foreigners and migrant workers discusses social theories historical and current background economic policy relating to aliens covers multinational enterprises legal status indigenization nationalization conflicts between aliens and citizens social structure race relations ideologies economic and political aspects etc includes case studies of Ghana and Uganda Bibliography Conference held in Belmont 1974 Oct 16 to 19 African Societies in Southern Africa Leonard Monteath Thompson, 1969 A History of African Societies to 1870 Elizabeth Isichei, 1997-04-13 This comprehensive and detailed exploration of the African past from prehistory to approximately 1870 is intended to provide a fully up to date complement to the Cambridge History of Africa Reflecting several emphases in recent scholarship it focusses on the changing modes of production on gender relations and on ecology laying particular stress on viewing history from below A distinctive theme is to be found in its analyses of cognitive history The work falls into three sections The first comprises a historiographic analysis and covers the period from the dawn of prehistory to the end of the Early Iron Age The second and third sections are for the most part organised on regional lines the second section ends in the sixteenth century the third carries the story on to 1870 A second volume now in preparation will cover the period from 1870 to 1995 This book attempts a more rounded view of African history than most of the other textbooks on the subject addressed to a largely undergraduate level student Earlier histories have tended to ignore some of the current foci in the scholarly literature on Africa generally not reflected in the textbooks these include discussions of topical issues like ecology and gender Isichei s book is also more radical Space Fostering African Societies Annette Froehlich, 2021-02-22 This peer reviewed book provides detailed insights into how space and its applications are and can be used to support the development of the full range and diversity of African societies as encapsulated in the African Union s Agenda 2063 Following on from Part 1 which was highly acclaimed by the space community it focuses on the role of space in supporting the UN Sustainable Development Goals in Africa but covers an even more extensive array of relevant and timely topics addressing all facets of African development It demonstrates that while there have been significant achievements in recent years in terms of economic and social development which have lifted many of Africa s people out of poverty there is still a great deal that needs to be done to fulfill the basic needs of Africa s citizens and afford them the dignity they deserve To this end space is already being employed in diverse fields of human endeavor to serve Africa's goals for its future but there is much room for further incorporation of space systems and data. Providing a comprehensive overview of the role space is playing in helping Africa achieve its developmental aspirations, the book will appeal to both students and professionals in fields such as space studies, international relations, governance, and social and rural development. Integrated Space for African Society Annette Froehlich, 2019-09-18. This book provides an overview of the space sector in African countries from a legal and policy point of view, analysing how the African Union's Space Policy and Strategy (ASPS) is implemented and highlighting the various space activities in each country. Against this backdrop, it investigates the ASPS, identifying its policy goals, identifying and discussing its strategy. Moreover, it explores the on-going regional cooperation programmes, the continent's leading space actors and their roles, and the space-related regional fora and organizations, reflecting on various initiatives including the African Leadership Conference on Space Science and Technology for Sustainable Development (ALC), the Regional African Satellite Communications Organisation (RASCOM), and the African Resource Management Satellite Constellation (ARMS). As such, it is a valuable source of information on space capacities in African countries. Journal of the African Society African Society, 1905. An Introduction to the Study of African Culture Eric O. Ayisi, 1992. Journal of the Royal African Society Royal African Society, 1925. Journal of the Royal African Society, 1901. The Slave Trade and African Societies G. N. Uzoigwe, 1971. How Societies Are Born Jan Vansina, 2012-10-05. Like stars, societies are born, and this story deals with such a birth. It asks a fundamental and compelling question: How did societies first coalesce from the small foraging communities that had roamed in West Central Africa for many thousands of years? Jan Vansina continues a career-long effort to reconstruct the history of African societies before European contact in How Societies Are Born. In this complement to his previous study Paths in the Rainforests, Vansina employs a provocative combination of archaeology and historical linguistics to turn his scholarly focus to governance, studying the creation of relatively large societies extending beyond the foraging groups that characterized west central Africa from the beginning of human habitation to around 500 BCE and the institutions that bridged their constituent local communities and made large-scale cooperation possible. The increasing reliance on cereal crops, iron tools, large herds of cattle, and overarching institutions such as corporate matrilineages and dispersed matriclans lead up to the developments treated in the second part of the book. From about 900 BCE until European contact, different societies chose different developmental paths. Interestingly, these proceeded well beyond environmental constraints and were characterized by major differences in the subjects which enthralled people, whether these were cattle initiations and social position or the splendors of sacralized leaders and the possibilities of participating in them. African Indigenous Institutions and Societies Benjamin Okaba, 1999. Transformations in History Toyin Falola, 2024-11-04. The book uses the main body of Lovejoy's work to speak to core African and economic history issues. It thoroughly examines Lovejoy's contributions to the study of Africa, particularly in exploring issues around production and exchanges at local regional and international levels The book offers readers a fresh perspective on the discourse of slavery and colonialism while simultaneously introducing them to the quality of work already accomplished by a stellar scholar As the book argues Lovejoy presents verifiable historical data that nudges us to reconsider our perception of Africa s growth trajectory especially before its encounter with the Americas A chapter examines the various ways by which the people experienced slavery before it became proliferated during the time Europeans entered into the business Another chapter addresses questions about the progressive efforts of slave traders to access the interior to drive more victims who would be shipped to the Atlantic for the business of servitude to advance the European economy Alongside this exploration a provides the background as to the contributions of Africans to ensure the continuity of this business Lovejoy notes for instance that Muslims were found in every region in the Americas during slavery which indicates that they were being taken there through transatlantic slavery While Muslims were found in these areas it was not true that they were there in large numbers This is underscored by their resistance to all forms of forced extraction of the people from their homeland In essence they challenged the system in ways that redefined their participation in the exercise The book analyzes how Muslims ensured that economic and political power were withdrawn from the hands of the victims and how they systematically created institutions that promoted that very inequity Lovejoy s extensive knowledge allows us to develop theories and establish applicable methodologies for understanding African reality since the precolonial era He presents original perspectives about addressing issues of African American engagements and the roles of critical voices in the diaspora Consequently the book is an invaluable educational resource particularly for people who want to deepen their understanding of African social and economic history

Development of African Societies Up to the Nineteenth Century ,1981 West African Secret Societies Frederick William Butt-Thompson,1929 Religion and Change in African Societies ,1979 The Yearbook of the Scientific and Learned Societies of Great Britain and Ireland ,1925 Official Year-book of the Scientific and Learned Societies of Great Britain and Ireland ,1913
