Natasha Tarpley

African Women Three Generations:

African Women Mark Mathabane, 1994 The bestselling author of Kaffir Boy offers the profoundly dramatic personal stories of his mother grandmother and sister and the desperate and dire circumstances under which they raised their families in the face of apartheid

Photos Girl in the Mirror Natasha Tarpley, 1998 In this family memoir told in the voices of three generations poet Natasha Tarpley sets her own migrations in the context of a long line of African American stories Both historical and personal Girl in the Mirror traces her grandparents move from Alabama to Chicago her mother's relocation to Boston after her father's death and her own trip to Africa and back Tarpley emerges at the end reflected in the lives struggles and loves of those Black people who have traveled the road before her

Introducing African Women's Theology Mercy Oduyoye, 2001-04-01 This volume describes the context and methodology of Christian theology by Africans in the past two decades and provides brief descriptions of sample treatments of theological issues such as creation Christology ecclesiology and eschatology The aim of the book is to lead interested persons to the sources of African women's Christian theology Throughout an effort has been made to illustrate how African culture and the multi religious context has influenced Christian women's selection of theological issues The importance of daily life to theology and the attempt to probe the spirituality of African Christian women is also evident in this introduction to African women's theology

African Women Catherine Coquery-vidrovitch, Beth Raps, 2018-10-08 Over the last century the social and economic roles played by African women have evolved dramatically Long confined to home and field overlooked by their menfolk and missionaries alike African women worked thought dreamed and struggled They migrated to the cities invented new jobs and activated the so called informal economy to become Africa's economic and social focal point As a result despite their lack of education and relatively low status women are now Africa's best hope for the future This sweeping and innovative book is the first to reconstruct the full history of women in sub Saharan Africa Tracing the lot of African women from the eve of the colonial period to the present Catherine Coquery Vidrovitch explores the stages and forms of women's collective roles as well as their individual emancipation through revolts urban migrations economic impacts social claims political strength and creativity Comparing case studies drawn from throughout the region she sheds light on issues ranging from gender to economy politics society and culture Utilizing an impressive array of sources she highlights broad general patterns without overlooking crucial local variations With its breadth of coverage and clear analysis of complex questions this book is destined to become a standard text for scholars and students alike

African Families in a Global Context Göran Therborn, 2004 The family is one of the most important institutions of African societies Where is it going today How is it affected by global processes cultural and political as well as economic How does it compare with family developments in other parts of the world These are questions which this book addresses The contributors deal with the African family in a comparative global context focusing on patriarchy sexuality and marriage and fertility biological and social reproduction in Ghana under conditions of globalization and structural adjustment Nigerian marriage relations under the impact of current conditions and family changes in the North Britain from a family perspective of the South South Africa Intergenerational Transmission of Resilience Across Three Generations of African American Women ,2022 Legacies of Departed African Women Writers Helen O. Chukwuma, Chioma Carol Opara, 2022-08-29 Legacies of Departed African Women Writers Matrix of Creativity and Power proffers varied perspectives of the invaluable contributions of ten deceased African writers from all across Africa who have cleared the path to a vibrant African feminist arena The dynamics of change gleaned from both their textual and contextual concerns unarguably set the pace for contemporary African women writers who have striven to follow in the footsteps of their literary mothers as well as their oral foremothers This book edited by Helen Chukwuma and Chioma Carol Opara shows the collective testament of ample creativity and power generated by these departed heroes Flora Nwapa Mariama Ba Grace Ogot Zulu Sofola Bessie Head Buchi Emecheta Nawal El Saadawi Assia Djebar Yvonne Vera and Nadine Gordimer These chapters revolve around the positive impact of the celebrated writers on creative writing theoretical formulations and socio cultural change The contributors argue that these corpuses of works have illuminated creativity rooted in power vision and freedom Rising Anthills Elisabeth Bekers, 2010-08-05 Female genital excision or the ritual of cutting the external genitals of girls and women is undoubtedly one of the most heavily and widely debated cultural traditions of our time By looking at how writers of African descent have presented the practice in their literary work Elisabeth Bekers shows how the debate on female genital excision evolved over the last four decades of the twentieth century in response to changing attitudes about ethnicity nationalism colonialism feminism and human rights Rising Anthills the title refers to a Dogon myth analyzes works in English French and Arabic by African and African American writers both women and men from different parts of the African continent and the diaspora Attending closely to the nuances of language and the complexities of the issue Bekers explores lesser known writers side by side with such recognizable names as Ngugi wa Thiong'o Flora Nwapa Nawal El Saadawi Ahmadou Kourouma Calixthe Beyala Alice Walker and Gloria Naylor Following their literary discussions of female genital excision she discerns a gradual evolution from the 1960s when writers mindful of its communal significance carefully wrote around the physical operation through the 1970s and 1980s when they began to speak out against the practice and their societies gender politics to the late 1990s when they situated their denunciations of female genital excision in a much broader international context of women's oppression and the struggle for women's rights Gender in African Women's Writing Juliana Makuchi Nfah-Abbenyi, 1997-12-22 This is a cogent analysis of the complexities of gender in the work of nine contemporary Anglophone and Francophone novelists offers illuminating interpretations of worthy writers Multicultural Review This book reaffirms Bessie Head's remark that books are a tool in this case a tool that allows readers to understand better the rich lives and the condition of African women Excellent notes and a rich bibliography Choice a college level analysis which will appeal to any interested in African studies and literature The

Bookwatch This book applies gender as a category of analysis to the works of nine sub Saharan women writers Aidoo B Beyala Dangarembga Emecheta Head Liking Tlali and Zanga Tsogo The author appropriates western feminist theories of gender in an African literary context and in the process she finds and names critical theory that is African indigenous self determining which she then melds with western feminist theory and comes out with an over arching theory that enriches western post colonial and African critical perspectives African Women's Studies, 1980-2001 Desiree Lewis,2002
