God, Spirit, and Human Wholeness Elochukwu Eugene Uzukwu, 2012-03-09 The Holy Spirit provides access to relationship with and reflection on the Triune God In West Africa Christians approach the Triune God in a way that challenges the Jewish Christian memory Deeply rooted in their ancestral memory where living is relationality they embrace the Trinitarian faith the economy of the relational God Christ Spirit by expanding and reinventing their indigenous experience of God deities spirits and ancestors Christian faith practice is marked by the spectacular dominance of the Holy Spirit whose charisms reflect the operations of deities African Initiated Churches AICs Protestant and Catholic charismatic movements experience God Spirit's liberating and healing hand for the enhancement and realization of communal and individual destiny what one expects from a concerned providential deity This book argues that the emergent West African Trinitarian imagination is in harmony with Hebrew insight into the One and Only Yahweh of the patriarchs that assumed the dimensions of Elohim God experienced as a sound of sheer silence by Elijah and proposed in utter weakness as the Only God by Deutero Isaiah the God that Jesus called Abba Father As Spirit and Life the Holy Spirit which is the source of all charisms Origen is our link to the Trinity Four Seasons of Mojo Stephanie Rose Bird, 2006 The changing of the seasons can feel magical greens changing to browns and golds snow melting to show fresh buds We all recognize these tell tale signs but few are aware of the powerful impact each season has on our spiritual lives Four Seasons of Mojo infuses ancient techniques rituals and methods from around the world to use each season's inherent energies to supplement body mind and soul Designed to further spiritual practices by learning from neighboring cultures this book provides readers with useful ideas unrestricted by geographic borders ethnicity religion or magical path Included are recipes and concepts from the Caribbean African American soul food Buddhist Meditation practices sacred Hindu rites Old European traditions Australian Aboriginal dreaming lessons and Native American wisdom African American Magick Stephanie Rose Bird, 2023-06-05 An inspired herbal guide to natural living with ancient techniques remedies and rituals from around the world centered on the rhythms of the seasons The changing of the seasons is magickal green leaves transforming into browns and golds snow melting to show fresh buds We all recognize these telltale signs but few of us are aware of the powerful impact each season has on our spiritual lives Whether sunny snowy windy rainy cold or humid the weather has a dramatic effect on our being wherever we may live The author Stephanie Rose Bird is deeply committed to keeping alive the spiritual wisdom of her indigenous African ancestors In African American Magick she examines the magickal ability of the seasons to enhance our lives by unearthing ancient techniques rituals and methods from around the world that reflect each season's inherent energies to supplement body mind and soul Drawing upon her own ancestral heritage as well as other cultures and those that have influenced her

Bird offers a lifetime of wisdom and expert botanical knowledge while sharing her path to a holistic and magickal life. Guidance from all over the world and from classical and modern traditions alike are offered. Spiritual insights from Caribbean African American culture, Wisdom from indigenous Native American traditions, Buddhist and Hindu meditation practices and rites, Practices of classical European spiritual traditions, Lessons from Aboriginal Australian dreaming practices, African American Magick was previously published in 2006 under the title Four Seasons of Mojo. An intellectual biography of a modern African artist and his immense contribution to twentieth century art history. The Palgrave Handbook of African Philosophy Adeshina Afolayan, Toyin Falola, 2017-11-17. This handbook investigates the current state and future possibilities of African Philosophy as a discipline and as a practice vis vis the challenge of African development and Africa's place in a globalized neoliberal capitalist economy. The volume offers a comprehensive survey of the philosophical enterprise in Africa especially with reference to current discourses, arguments and new issues: feminism and gender terrorism and fundamentalism, sexuality, development, identity, pedagogy and multidisciplinary etc that are significant for understanding how Africa can resume its arrested march towards decolonization and liberation. Ajija Damian Ugwutikiri Opata, 2009. The Journal of African American History, 2006. Contours, 2005. International African Bibliography, 2001. Farmers, Traders, Warriors, and Kings Nwando Achebe, 2005-07-30. This is a brilliant and refreshing book which gives ample and well deserved voice to women. It is a book that will definitely be of interest to scholars and students in the fields of history, anthropology, political science, religion and political economy. It is a must read for scholars and students in Women's Studies Programs. Felix K Ekechi, Professor Emeritus, History, Kent State University. This original and insightful work's sensible and balanced view of Igbo women's power and authority is modulated by a profound understanding of the ways in which women negotiated indigenous cultural spaces and at the same time negotiated with and refashioned pre colonial and colonial contexts. Farmers, Traders, Warriors, and Kings is a major event in African gender studies publishing. Obioma Nnaemeka, Professor of French, Women's Studies and African African Diaspora Studies, Indiana University Indianapolis. Nwando Achebe's book is rich in accounts of the life histories of recent powerful goddesses that were constructed by the Nsukka Igbo from the late 19th century. She recounts these case studies with passion and fascination. This is another important addition to the growing literature in Igbo studies, gender studies and African historiography. Ifi Amadiume, Professor of Religion and African and African American Studies, Dartmouth College. A landmark in African historiography. In the best tradition of the discipline, Dr Achebe reminds us after all that history, however academically grounded, should aim to delight as well as educate. Nwando Achebe is ahead of her generation, not only in the depth of her sensibility but in the facility with which she represents the structures of feeling of her Igbo society Isidore Okpewho Distinguished Professor of the Humanities State University of New York Binghamton There is an adage that the Igbo have no kings Farmers Traders Warriors and Kings focuses on an area in Igboland where contrary to this popular belief Igbos not only have kings but female kings It is an area where women served as warriors and even married many wives Because women in Nsukka Division served as prominent actors in a complex set of interactions relationships and manifestations unmatched elsewhere in Igboland the author argues that researchers cannot adequately analyze the landscape of Nsukka Division or any other African society for that matter without investigating the central place of women and the female principle in the spiritual world of the society The author examines the political economic and religious structures that allowed women and the female principle to achieve measures of power and looks at some of the ways they reacted and adjusted to the challenges of European rule Such an investigation into the history of this gender dynamic yields important results for both African History and Women s Studies Achebe focuses on the evolution of gender politics and female power in Nigeria s northern Igboland over the first six decades of the 20th century This time period approximately 1900 1960 is important because it allows for the exploration of continuity and change in Nsukka women s activities as well as the female principle over three periods late pre colonial colonial and post colonial Nigeria Along the way she raises and answers questions relating to scholarship on women sex and gender in Africa by uncovering the complexities of the Igbo gender construct arguing for example that sex and gender did not coincide in northern Igboland Consequently women were able to occupy positions that were exclusively monopolized by men in other societies and men likewise occupied positions that would have otherwise been monopolized by women Expanding on this premise the author calls for a revision of traditional classifications of African women
