Ageing In The Asia Pacific Region:

Ageing in the Asia-Pacific Region David R. Phillips, 2002-11-01 First Published in 2004 The Asia Pacific region is now clearly witnessing the rapid ageing of many of its nations and Asia is already the region with relatively the largest number of older persons This book focuses on the challenges that this demographic trend poses to economies and societies in the region and the policies that have evolved to date to meet new demands It looks forward over the coming decades to consider how societies and economies will deal with ageing and the necessary structural and behavioural changes that this will entail The book is organized into two main sections The first introduces the key features demography research and long term care issues of the region and provides region wide context and analysis The second section offers in depth case studies of thirteen countries including China Japan Korea and Indonesia As well as providing a wealth of original research material the book also offers valuable comparative analysis while the larger economies have had to develop policies to maintain their social and economic successes in the face of demographic ageing developing countries must find ways to build their economies around an ageing population With contributors drawn from a range of academic and professional disciplines including many practising social gerontologists this book will be of interest to scholars in economics sociology social policy health policy politics and development studies With its particular emphasis on the future it will also be an essential reference for anybody with a professional interest in policy making in the region

Ageing Asia and the Pacific in Changing Times Subas Dhakal, Alan Nankervis, John Burgess, 2022-01-31 This book demonstrates that there are wide ranging potential challenges in addressing issues associated with ageing populations in both developed and developing countries of the region This book brings together local national and regional perspectives on the ageing population and sustainable development nexus in selected countries in the Asia Pacific region The countries selected in this book include a mix of developed and developing economies that all reflect strong trade investment and migration linkages While the Asia Pacific region is forecast to enjoy high growth in the coming decade a recurring common policy challenge is addressing the demographic time bomb posed by ageing populations and workforces Montague et al 2017 Consequently this book focuses on strategic policies and practices of multiple stakeholders primarily governments industry and education systems together with the range of aged care services providers in more effectively addressing these key socio economic challenges associated with the ageing population for sustainable development
